Entire County Is Drenched By Heavy Rain During Day

REPORT SAYS TO CONTINUE OVER NIGHT

Three-quarters of Inch of Moisture Reported By
Hill and Son in S. A.

DOWNGPOUR IS STEADY

Even Inch of Rain Falls
At Fullerton — Barley
Planting Starts Soon

WITH OTHER cities of the southland, Santa Ana today shared in the luxury of another generous rain, and at a late hour this afternoon the steady and gentle downpour was continuing.

As on the last occasion of his visit, Jupiter Pluvius opened operations here without formal notice, the moisture precipitating activity starting about 9 o'clock last night. According to Hill & Son records, the fall between that hour and 7 a. m., today, was .75 of an inch, making the season 2.77 inches, as compared with 4.83 inches for the corresponding date last year.

There were no extreme hard rains during the night or during today, the rain drops coming down in steady succession, and without violence.

There was no heavy run-off on the streets of the city, or on ranch property. In the rural districts virtually every drop was absorbed by the land.

Fullerton led with the high report, the amount there being an even inch. Contrary to the usual record, the storm precipitation along the west Orange county coast was nearly equal to the distribution in the interior of Orange county, for Huntington Beach had a total of .82 of an inch. Laguna Beach had only .48 of an inch and Capistrano only .65.

Seeding of barley on dry lands did not follow the last rain, and it is expected that planting will start as soon as the present storm has passed and the ground dries sufficiently to permit seeders to operate.

Orange county crops that might suffer damage by rain are out of the way and there is no possibility of any but the greatest benefit resulting from the present storm.

The forecast is for continuation of the rain tonight and tomorrow.

13 Of 14 Hurt In Train Wreck Leave Roseburg Hospital

ROSEBURG, Ore., Dec. 3.—(INS)—But one of the 14 persons injured when the Shasta limited of Southern Pacific was derailed near here, remained in the hospital today. Mrs. Mary Croach, of Portland, sustained a broken collar bone and other injuries in the accident. The others were less seriously injured.

The engine and six coaches left the tracks when one of the steel ties on the locomotive became loosened. The engine, strangely enough, climbed back onto the track after being derailed, leaving the six coaches along the right-of-way.

221 PERSONS ARE BELIEVED DEAD IN CHILE EARTHQUAKE

EZRA MEEKER, LAST OF WEST PIONEERS DEAD

By RICHARD G. BALDWIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 3.—(UP)—Ezra Meeker, last of the west's great pioneers, is dead. The man known to the world as the personification of the type of immigrant who braved the rigors of the old Oregon Trail breathed his last at 4:05 a. m. today.

The hand of old age coupled with stomach illness proved too much for the vitality of the 97-year old westerner.

Meeker met death as he had lived—squarely. He was not sorry to go, although it had been his desire to live until he had seen 100 years.

During the last few days of his illness, at times when he slipped back into consciousness, he was the "Ezra" thousands had known—he smiled, he chatted cheerfully with his loved ones.

He spoke of the "early days" and said he would be glad to once again see and meet those who had passed on long ago.

It had been a long trail that Ezra Meeker followed. He first saw the light of day on December 29, 1830, near Huntsville, Butler county, O.

When not yet 7 years of age, his family moved to Covington, Ind., the boy Ezra walking every step of the way behind his father's wagon.

On the banks of the Wabash he learned the art of driving four yoke of oxen to a drag plow. Later, following the family fortunes near Indianapolis, he worked at odd jobs and at the end of three years found himself possessed of $37.

Then Meeker met Eliza Jane Sumner and in 1853 they were married. He moved to Iowa, wintering there, where government would give him $20 acres in Oregon, started west in the spring of 1852, after the arrival of their first-born son.

At the Missouri river they became a part of a great immigrant train numbering 1600 wagons—a train that numbered some 40,000 persons.

CROSSES GREAT DIVIDE

Ezra Meeker, who was among the first few hundred to cross the plains to the Pacific coast, and who has made numerous transcontinental trips since—including one by airplane—completes his final journey. His 98 years weighed heavily upon the old trail blazer, and death came at his Seattle home.

KING GEORGE GRAVELY ILL BULLETIN SAYS

BY KEITH JONES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Dec. 3.—(UP)—The king of England lay gravely ill today. His heart weakened under the strain of his lung infection and oxygen was administered to bolster his strength. Anxious subjects crowded about the palace gates, the few hundreds there representing the millions in the British empire who shared their vigil from the ends of the earth.

The queen bravely faced anxious hours during the night with her daughter, Princess Mary, at her side. The Prince of Wales, heir to the throne, raced from Africa on Wednesday morning, and the Hoover party will go 15 miles from there to Lima, capital of Peru.

The Maryland is due at Callao Wednesday morning, and the Hoover party will go 15 miles from there to Lima, capital of Peru.

It was with impressive ceremony that Hoover bade President Ayora, of Ecuador, farewell yesterday.

On the gangway of the Maryland at 4:30 p. m., Hoover and Ayora exchanged Spanish "embraces" in the characteristic Latin American manner of saying farewell.

This occurred after a short walk from the quarter deck of the Maryland between lines of white suited sailors and khaki clad marines.

After clearing the Maryland, the admiral's barge, carrying Ayora, stood by with the Ecuadorian ensign hoisted. The Maryland gave a 21 gun salute.

The black-bulldog barge was clearly outlined against the haze of the purple hills. The sky was

Congress Approval On River Compact Asked In Measure

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(UP)—A bill requesting congressional approval of the Colorado river compact for apportionment of waters of the Colorado river was introduced today by Representative Taylor, Democrat, Colorado. The pact was signed by Arizona, California, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming in 1922.

Taylor said his bill was designed to assure the four upper basin states, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming, 7,500,000 acre feet of water annually.

He explained the federal water power commission now has numerous applications for sites on the lower basin and the bill restricts water used for power development in the lower basin to water already allocated that section.

Half Hundred Are Reported Badly Injured

Government Making Effort
To Speed Relief Plans
For Sufferers

By JOSEPH L. JONES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 3.—(UP)—The newspaper La Nacion, on the basis of its correspondents' reports, estimated today that 221 persons were killed in the earthquake which rocked the section 150 miles south of here. La Nacion estimated the injured at 535.

The state telegraph agency, which previously had placed the number of known dead at 132; changed its figure to 137. There were at least six towns from which only scattered reports had been received.

The government's death list of from 100 to 120, outside of the town of Constitution, was unchanged. Fifty-four persons were killed in Constitution, the report said.

Meanwhile the government was making every effort to speed its relief plans. President Ibanez made a hurried trip to Talca, capital of the province of Talca. On his return, he was met by his ministers who began to map a relief campaign on the basis of the president's observations.

The war minister has conferred with national Red Cross officials and offers of assistance have been received from Argentine and the Uruguayan and Paraguayan ministers.

Apparently the two towns worst hit were Talca and Constitution, seaport and capital of the province of Maule. Constitution has a population of about 700 and Talca about 43,000.

An eyewitness account of conditions in Talca was furnished by Enrique Didier, correspondent of Diario Ilustrado.

"I found dozens of tents in the railroad station," he wrote. "Planks and bedclothes were piled up. Housing entire families.

"I was challenged repeatedly by patrolling troops, for while the city was not declared in a state of siege, all movement on the street was prohibited after 10 p. m. I following a

SWANSON IN OFFICE AT STATE ATTORNEY

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—(UP)—John A. Swanson formally took office as state's attorney today, faced with the task of ridding Chicago of crime and vice.

Succeeding Robert E. Crowe, who made a name for himself in many sensational trials, including the Leeb-Leopold case, Swanson had before him the reports of six special grand juries, branding Chicago as crime and vice ridden and in the grasp of a huge conspiracy of politicians and crooks.

Evidence presented to the special grand juries in the several months they have been delving into conditions tended to show that vice lords and gangsters paid huge sums to politicians for protection of their rackets. Police were powerless to close saloons, beer flats and gambling houses because they would "step on the toes" of higher ups, witnesses testified.

ENGINEERS' REPORT ASSERTS BOULDER DAM FEASIBLE AND IS SUBMITTED TO CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(UP)—A board of five engineers appointed to consider the engineering and economic feasibility of a dam on the Colorado river at Boulder or Black canyon reported to congress today that a dam of the type proposed by the interior department could be built across Black canyon. "It is the opinion of the board that a dam of the gravity type is suitable for the site in question, and that such a dam built across Black canyon would be safe, provided the maximum stresses allowed do not exceed those adopted in standard practice," the board said.

CONGRESS TO BE AFFECTED BY ELECTION

Six Senators and 41 Representatives Return As "Lame Ducks"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(UP)—A vice president, six senators and 41 representatives who took their places at the opening of the final session of congress today are "lame ducks"—a term applied to public officials who hold office after defeat in an election. They will continue in office until the new congress elected in November with Herbert Hoover comes into power next March.

Vice President Dawes will hand over his senate office next March to Senator Charles G. Curtis, the vice president-elect.

All six of the senators are Democrats.

Thomas F. Bayard, member of an historic Delaware family.

William Cabell Bruce, ardent leader of the wets from Maryland.

Edward I. Edwards, another wet leader from New Jersey.

Peter G. Gerry, of the Rhode Island Gerys, a millionaire and social leader, friend of Gov. Alfred E. Smith and a philanthropist.

Earle B. Mayfield, of Texas, the only one of the Democratic "lame ducks" who failed to receive his party's renomination for his post.

M. M. Neely, of West Virginia, senatorial leader of the younger senators who started the congressional vogue of green neckties.

Every Republican senator who was up for re-election was re-elected and Republican seats left vacant by deaths were filled with Republicans.

Two other senators who will not come back after March 4 but who are not pedigreed "lame ducks" because they did not run for re-election are Senators James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, one of the most famed orators of the congress, and George P. McLean, Republican of Connecticut, a former banker and expert on financial legislation.

"Lame ducks," according to the

TRIBUTE PAID DEAD

Adjournment Taken Until Tuesday When President Will Deliver Address

BY PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The seventieth congress met here at noon today for its short session, breaking a six months recess to resume consideration of the legislative business of the nation where it left off last June.

With staid formality, senate and house convened in their respective halls at opposite ends of the capitol, performing only the routine business of organizing before adjourning until tomorrow out of respect for members who died during the summer.

Vice-president Charles Dawes, presided over the crowded senate chamber, the proceedings of which were watched by galleries filled with a distinguished political and social representation. He mounted the rostrum as the clock showed 12 and with a stroke of his gavel asked order from senators who stood at attention at their desks while prayer was offered.

1000 in Galleries

Speaker Nicholas Longworth performed the same function in the house where there were nearly 1000 persons in the galleries.

Longworth had a harder time commanding order from his larger group of colleagues than did Dawes with his senators. After prayers, the roll was called to mark down officially the names of those present. This procedure required but a few minutes in the senate but nearly a half hour in the house.

The senate session lasted but 15 minutes, adjourning at 12:17 p. m. upon motion of Senator Borah of Idaho out of respect to the late Senator Goodings of Idaho and other members who died.

Most of the old familiar faces were present for the brief ritual, discussing the outcome of the presidential election. Much interest centered on the iridescent purple vest of Senator Cole Blaise of South Carolina, a garment which turned all colors of the rainbow and some others.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina and Hedin of Alabama, Democrats who fought the election of Governor Smith, received some congratulations. Hedin stuck to his chair, receiving only

12 MEET DEATH AS PLANE FALLS IN BAY

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Dec. 3.—(INS)—Twelve prominent Brazilians, including educators, engineers and economic leaders, were drowned today when the seaplane Condor, in which they were flying out to meet the noted inventor, Alberto Santos-Dumont, was forced down into the bay.

Twelve bodies were found inside the seaplane when it was picked up from the water. All had been trapped inside.

Among the dead is Prof. Tobias Moscoso, Brazilian delegate to the Pan-American conference at Havana.

The victims were members of a reception committee that had flown out to welcome Santos-Dumont to Rio.

Wholesale Influx Of Foreigners Seen By Secretary Davis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(UP)—In letters to the chairman of the senate and house immigration committees, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis has urged new legislation tightening the immigration laws.

Recent court decisions permitting entry of aliens from Canada under a temporary status, Davis said, opens the way to a wholesale influx of immigrants to the United States not only from Canada and Mexico but from Europe as well.

Under the court interpretations of the 1924 immigration law, he declared, these aliens could enter as "temporary" visitors and remain here for six months. While here, he said, they could earn enough to enable them to return home at expiration of the six month period, when they would again be eligible for entry as temporary visitors.

DEMOCRATS BACK SMITH PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(INS)—Democrats in congress will adopt Gov. Al Smith's suggestion and offer this session a legislative program to carry out the party's pledge at the Houston convention, Rep. John A. Garner, Texas, announced today.

Garner is slated to become Democratic leader in the next congress. He is now the ranking minority member of the house ways and means committee.

Governor Smith in a radio address following the election advised his party to adopt a constructive legislative policy in preparation for the presidential campaign four years hence.

McNARY-HAUGEN BILL FOR CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The ghost of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill cast its shadow over congress at the opening today, when Rep. Gilbert N. Haugen (R) of Iowa, chairman of the house agriculture committee, indicated that an attempt may be made to jam the bill through again in the short session. It has been twice passed by congress and twice vetoed by President Coolidge.

Returning to Washington in a belligerent mood, Haugen threw cold water on compromise proposals by declaring tartly that any bill which goes through this session "must be the McNary-Haugen bill or something equally as good."

LLOYD'S RATE ON KING GEORGE JUMPS

LONDON, Dec. 3.—(INS)—Lloyd's rate for insurance against the death of King George before December 31 suddenly jumped today to 52 per cent.

The greatly increased rate was a direct indication of the gravity with which his majesty's illness is viewed today. The new rate is almost twice the last previously reported rate, which ranged from 25 to 30 per cent of the principal.

Federal Building May Be Under Way Here By July 1

U. S. ENGINEER INSPECTS SITES IN SANTA ANA

"The urgency of telegrams I have received from the treasury department requesting inspection of sites here for a federal building indicates the department will give Santa Ana a preferential position with reference to a building program and it may be reasonable to expect commencement of work on a federal building here within the course of a very few months—possibly by the first of next July—if we do not have too much difficulty in procuring a site suitable for the structure."

In substance, that is what William Arthur Newman, district engineer of public buildings for the government, said today in response to a query as to whether or not the work on a federal building proposed for Santa Ana could possibly be started by July 1 of next year.

Newman came here this morning from San Francisco to inspect sites offered for the proposed building. Makes General Survey

Pointing out that it is his duty to make a general survey of a community in which a federal structure is to be located, Newman expressed surprise and satisfaction at the remarkable and consistent growth of receipts of the Santa Ana post office. He commented on the fact that receipts in 1918 were $52,000 while they totaled $150,000 for last year.

The engineer said that postal receipts this year should approximate $175,000 here.

"A splendid growth, I should say," Newman said.

The engineer asserted that he had difficulty in convincing the treasury department of the rapid development of cities and communities along the Pacific coast and particularly in California.

After completing his survey here, including also investigation of the industrial and commercial interests of the city and the possible expansion in territory and population, the engineer will submit his findings and make recommendations of a site to the proper authorities, following which application will be made to the treasury for funds for the site and building. It will be within the province of the engineer to designate the size of the structure and the number of stories it should contain.

16 Sites Proposed

Postmaster T. E. Stephenson said that he had 16 offers of sites, but that a large number of them did not meet the requirements of the government. It was his opinion that only three or four of the proposed sites could be given serious consideration. Some of the locations are too far removed from the heart of the city and some of them do not contain the required 28,000 square feet.

Newman will be in the city for several days making his investigations and will not announce his recommendation until some time later.

Pointing out that in this instance the city is demanding that a federal building be erected here instead of the government initiating the program, the engineer intimated that the government would not be adverse to receiving an offer of a free site or an offer of a site at a low consideration.

DELAY CONFERENCE ON SCHOOL HOUSING

A joint meeting of the Santa Ana board of education and representatives from the Newport harbor region, tentatively arranged for tomorrow night and at which the school housing situation in this district was to have been discussed, was postponed today until December 11.

The regular board meeting is scheduled for that date and the conference will take place at the same time, it was announced at the board of education offices today.

The conference has been called in order that some way out of the present situation may be found.

The board of education also has appointed a citizens' advisory committee to work with it on the problem.

EZRA MEEKER, LAST OF WEST PIONEERS, DEAD

Accident, disease, the dread cholera claimed many—the death list being estimated at nearly 5,000 before the journey was done.

There was but little trouble from Indians. The immigrant train was too large and the men of it too willing to fight.

The Oregon Trail was being made. On October 1, 1852, the Meekers arrived at the Willamette river and at the village of Portland, Ore., there they spent the winter. In January 1853, they built their first cabin where the city of Kalama now stands.

April came, and with it word of a new country that was to be settled and the Meekers, still dissatisfied, started their journey northward, finally arriving at the settlement that is now the city of Seattle.

The twenty log cabins made no impression on Meeker, and he settled on McNeil Island, now the site of the federal penitentiary.

Meeker made friends with the Indians and remained at his ranch house only 18 miles distant from the scene of the White River massacre, tending his cattle in safety during the whole Indian outbreak in 1855-56.

He built his last home at Puyallup, Wash., and in 1906, at the age of 76, fitted out a prairie schooner and retraced his steps over the old Oregon trail.

He traveled to Washington, visited President Roosevelt, and urged the government to build a concrete road along the route he had followed in his youth.

Later he marked the completed road with monuments as an undying tribute to those whose names graves marked their journey's end.

Several years ago he again went over the Oregon Trail—this time in the latest conveyance known, the airplane.

He is survived by Mrs. Carrie Osborn, Seattle; Mrs. Ella Templeton, Seattle; Mrs. Roderick McDonald, Benton, B. C., daughters, and Marlon Meeker, of Cajon, Calif.

range slugs practice of congress expected to sing "Swan songs." The song of Reed is being awaited with the expectation which met that of John Sharpe Williams of Mississippi who told the senate on his retirement he preferred to be "a dog baying at the moon" than a United States senator.

Many famous figures have been removed from the roster of the house by death, retirement or defeat. Victor Berger, of Milwaukee, who had the distinction of being the only socialist member of the present congress, was defeated for re-election. The retirement list includes John Garrett of Tennessee, the Democratic floor leader, Blanton, the stormy petrel from Texas, Thomas Connolly of Texas who now is to come to the senate, Theodore Burton, of Ohio, now a senator-elect, and Begg and Davey of Ohio.

CHILDREN DANCE AT BREA CHEST BENEFIT

BREA, Dec. 3.—Children presented five dancing numbers in the benefit program put on at the Red Lantern theater here Saturday night, the proceeds going to the Brea Community Chest fund. The three little daughters of Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Jackson, Bobbie Shanks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shanks, Ellen Edmondson and Ellen Margaret Rothermel, of Fullerton; Priscilla Sherman, of Anaheim; Margery Carpenter and Juliette Williams, of Santa Ana, were the dancers, most of them pupils of Miss Icare Coutant.

In addition to this, a feature film and a comedy were shown.

estimated amount of power cannot be maintained, the report said.

"Within a 30 or 40 year period, even with a re-regulating reservoir, the power output may be reduced to five tenths or six tenths of the capacity of the proposed plant during a long dry period.

Meantime Rev. Taylor, Democrat, Colorado, introduced a bill in the house today seeking congressional approval of the compact. The board held the upper basin states by virtue of their location, had the first call on the water of the river.

In pointing to the danger of withdrawal by the states of their allotted share of the annual flow, the board said it would be impossible to carry out the terms of the compact during the latter part of a low 10 year period.

With the uncertainties of the flow at Boulder dam it is impossible to estimate closely the average annual output of power which would obtain during a 50 year period, the report said.

The board pointed out that rapid irrigation development in the Colorado basin would follow consummation of the seven states compact, an added:

"It is quite probable that the compact attempts to apportion more water than the actual average undepended flow of the river. The situation is still further complicated by the fact that the upper basin states are authorized to take more than an equitable portion of the flow of the water, for any one or more of a series of dry years, provided they permit a total of 75,000,000 acre feet to flow down the river in a period of 10 consecutive years."

The growing demand for power in Southern California when considered on a conservative basis, the board suggested, will be sufficient to absorb the probable power output of the proposed 1,000,000 horsepower hydro electric plant, which would generate annually 3,600,000,000 kilowatt hours of current if operated continuously on a 55 per cent load factor.

In actual practice this theoretical output might be reduced by approximately 10 per cent, the report said.

Operation, maintenance, interest and sinking fund for the Boulder canyon project must be paid from the sale of power and of storage services which later has been estimated at $1,500,000 per year by the secretary of the interior, the board said.

"Based on the foregoing and the shortage of power which will occur at the low flow, the board is of the opinion that if the Boulder canyon project is completed and is put in operation, carrying as it does the costs of flood protection works and the all American canal, it will be impossible to meet operation, maintenance, interest and a sufficient sinking fund to retire the cost of the project with a 50-year period," the report stated.

The board suggested that it was extremely important that an agreement be reached limiting the amount of water assignable to Mexico, prior to the completion of the dam project.

"The storage of flood water in the Black canyon reservoir and its release during low water seasons will make more water available in Mexico and will invite immediate expansion in irrigated acreage in that country, the report continued.

those who came up to congratulate him, but Simmons moved about the chamber shaking hands with every one, including the stenographers.

Much Legislation

Radio legislation, Boulder dam Muscle Shoals, railroad consolidation, a dozen government appropriation bills, and some 700 measures proposed for the relief of various corporations, individuals, and agencies faced the 530 senators and representatives.

Silk hats and cutaways furnished the usual glamour as the legislators, 75 of whom will not be present after March 4, maneuvered through the lobbies asking what would be done about the two subjects, uppermost in their minds, tariff and farm relief.

The farm bloc was attempting to persuade all members that no adequate farm relief legislation is possible in the three months session.

The advocates of tariff revision—and this group included nearly all the members—agreed that it was physically impossible to pass a tariff bill inside of six months. No tariff bills have been passed within that limit before and the existing law requires nine months for enactment.

The ways and means committee was called to meet before the opening hour. Chairman Hawley summoned committee members to decide the tariff issue but decision about the matter was expected to be delayed until settlements of the various factions could be rounded up officially. This may require several weeks.

Chairman McNary intends to introduce his "Hooverized" McNary-Hausen bill, without the equalization fee, hoping it may be passed so that an extra session can be avoided, but he has few of the supporters among those who urged his earlier bill. Without them, his cause is lost.

sanitary squad to the Palaxa Armies. There the Gardens were filled with tents. On all sides were automobiles covered with canvas, mattresses and cloth, which housed their owners.

"The same scenes were to be seen all along the Alameda. Without artificial light except acetylene torches placed at strategic points, with buildings abandoned and in ruins and with the streets filled with makeshift living quarters, Talca represents a fantastic aspect.

"A conservative calculation would say that five percent of the edifices were unharmed and that 20 percent were in ruins. The rest cannot be occupied."

APPEAL ADVANCED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(UP)—The United States supreme court today advanced the appeal of Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate sentenced to three months in jail for contempt, for argument in the week of January 7.

ator James E. Watson, Indiana, and Senator Wesley Jones, Washington, was to be kept out of the party discussions. Watson's friends expect him to retire from the race.

The unfinished business of the senate is the Johnson boulder dam bill which broke up the last session in a filibuster. A report of engineers who studied the project during the summer is to be presented and it may have some bearing on the question of whether the bill shall be continued as the unfinished business or whether it should be withdrawn for revision.

Next in line is the bill proposing a $174,000,000 naval cruiser rebuilding program. Behind these two major items is listed the Kellogg anti-war treaty which must be ratified before it can be effective.

The house has no important unfinished business. It closed its last session, making time for the senate. More than 500 bills are on the calendar but these refer for the most part to individual projects rather than national issues.

the fastest cruiser in the British navy.

Four of the most expert medical men in Britain waited on the king, staying with him most of the night. At 11 a. m. an attendant hurried across the courtyard of Buckingham palace towards the gate, bearing an official bulletin.

The news he bore was encouraging, the formality that surrounds the throne was broken. He could not wait to post his news and as he neared the gates, he called to the waiting throng:

"There is a slight improvement in the king's condition."

A mighty sigh escaped from the packed hundreds at the gates.

"Thank God, thank God," several cried.

The scene was impressive. The anxiety of the people was deep and sincere. The customary decorum observed at the palace gates was absent and the tall, helmeted police could not keep the people in line.

Instead of posting the bulletin, attendants held it high in the air. Inside the palace, the tension was somewhat relaxed after a night of strain. Her Majesty had not gone to bed, but waited in an ante-room while the doctors worked over the king.

Occasionally she was permitted to visit her husband, who remained cheerful.

Those at the palace said the king rallied remarkably since the critical hours of midnight. That the queen was overjoyed at the improved tone of the doctors' announcement.

The latest bulletin read:

"The king had three hours' quiet sleep since the last bulletin. His temperature is now 99.8. There is a slight improvement in his general condition."

"Stanley Hewitt,"

"Dawson of Penn."

The previous bulletin had been issued at 12:10 a. m. It said:

"The king had some sleep during the last three hours. Further consultation confirms the opinion expressed in the last bulletin that in spite of his improvement in his lung, anxiety concerning the strength of his heart persists."

"Stanley Hewitt,"

"Dawson of Penn."

"E. Farquhar Buzzard,"

"L. E. H. Whitby."

Sir E. Farquhar Buzzard is physician extraordinary to the king. Dr. Whitby is the expert bacteriologist who was called in last week. After what seemed to have been a crisis during the night, Sir Stanley and Lord Dawson left the palace at 3:30 a. m. Sir Farquhar and Dr. Whitby had left a short time before.

Lord Dawson and Sir Stanley returned to the palace shortly before 10 a. m. It was not long before the encouraging bulletin was issued. With other information available at the palace, it was taken as indicating that the king's constitution had stood against the most severe test so far in his illness.

Lord Dawson and Sir Stanley returned to the palace during the afternoon. Sir Stanley remained for an hour. The lord chancellor also called at the palace today as did Baron Davidson of Lamberth, former Archbishop of Canterbury.

The crowd at the palace had increased to 5000 or 6000 at the lunch hour, the largest since the king became ill.

The Duke and Duchess of York cancelled a visit they were to have made to Birmingham tomorrow. It was understood that the king's crisis over the week-end caused many prominent business men, theatrical magnates and members of parliament to be summoned to London from their country estates. Aside from loyal anxiety over the king's health, business and theatrical interests must be prepared for serious financial losses in the event of his death.

Reunion Of 91st Division Will Be Held Wednesday

Wednesday night will be "another big night" for former members of the Ninety-first division, who will hold "another big celebration" in Patriotic hall, Los Angeles, at that time, according to an announcement made here today.

Twenty Santa Ana members of the organization are expected to attend, it was said.

The "big celebration" will open with a turkey dinner and, according to Karl W. Marks, secretary of the Ninety-first Division association, the turkey will have "all the trimmings."

Nomination of officers for the new year also will be made at the meeting, it was said.

The cases of three men, charged with possession of liquor, were continued in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning.

George and Tom Tungstall, Huntington Beach men arrested last week on liquor counts, appeared in court and asked for a continuance until 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, to allow them time to procure an attorney. The request was granted.

They asked for a jury trial.

James A. Henderson, Los Alamitos pool hall proprietor, arrested last week when a small amount of liquor was said to have been found in his place of business, is suffering from influenza and was not able to appear in court this morning. The case was continued until next Friday morning.

HOOVER GIVEN BIG RECEPTION BY ECUADORANS

overcast, and the water shone green.

It was the culmination of Hoover's Ecuador visit which Ecuadorians and Americans unanimously agreed was a signal success.

The welcome to Hoover along the miles of waterfront to Guayaquil; the tumultuous popular demonstration to the United States president-elect in the municipal plaza; the shower of gifts; the parade, the dinner and ball featured the visit—but above all was the fact that Mr. Hoover and Ayora established a bond of comradely sympathy.

Behind the pageantry, diplomatic minds did swift work in effecting a mutual understanding of the economic situation of Ecuador and particularly of Ayora's endeavor to fulfill the economic program in accord with the program recommended by the Kemmerer mission and approved by the assembly.

It was evident that Mr. Hoover, Ayora, and their associates discussed the entire situation, doubtless including the Ecuadorian project for a $6,000,000 public improvements loan but officials subsequently made no comment.

Deaths

A WORD OF COMFORT

Charles Darwin is reported to have mourned late in life that he had lost his ear for music because he had forfeited it in his concentration upon other concerns.

Perhaps your ear was becoming deaf to God's voice, through your immersion in secular pursuits.

The sorrow, which at first seemed to overwhelm you and to strand you in lonely isolation, made you realize how completely you had been depending upon yourself with no thought of Him, or consciousness of His presence.

Seize this opportunity to learn to listen, for no one else can guide you into the way of peace.

FOOR—At her home, 112 Franklin street, December 1, Carrie Bell Foer, aged 55 years. She is survived by her husband, Fred E. Foer, and three children, Edna Lyall Anderson of Santa Ana; Guy Harland Foer, of San Francisco; and Harry Emmet Foer, of Hanford. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow, in the Harrell and Brown Funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street, the Rev. R. W. Harlow officiating. Interment will be in Central Memorial park.

VAIL—In Riverside, December 3, Charles H. Vail, age 65 years. He is survived by his wife, Eleanor Vail, and one daughter, Luella Vail, formerly of this city. Announcement of services will be made later by the Winbigger Mission Funeral home.

HANEY—In Santa Ana, December 2, 1928, John Haney, age 81 years. Notice of funeral will be made later by Smith and Tutthill.

THESE SIMPLE RULES MAKE TEETHING EASY

Be careful of Baby's diet during teething. Do not overfeed him. Watch his stomach and bowels and at the first sign of indigestion, gas or constipation, give him a few drops of harmless, pleasant-tasting Fletcher's Castoria. These simple rules are making teething easy on millions of babies—and mothers, too. For over thirty years Castoria has been the trusted standby of mothers everywhere. It soothes wakeful, cross babies to sleep quickly and easily—and it's purely vegetable so you can give it as often as needed. It does the work of castor oil better and more gently. For your protection, the bottle of genuine Castoria always bears the Fletcher signature—Adv.

PLANT'S TOTAL FOR PAST YEAR AT $640,212.01

Checks totaling $104,340.79 were sent to growers of the Olive Heights Citrus association today as final payment on pool No. 5, bringing the aggregate payment for the year to $640,212.01.

The payment today represented 48 cars of fruit, according to announcement of Ben Cole, manager.

This year's payment was the second highest in the history of the association, Cole said. Last year, the plant shipped 517 cars and paid out $753,300.42, while this season 300 cars of 462 boxes were shipped.

Cole estimated that next season's crop would total around 750 cars. The plant will resume Valencia operations next April.

HUGE SAVING MADE IN STATE BY R. R. BODY

California's railroad commission has brought about rate reductions which have saved the people of this state $3,500,000 during the last fiscal year, the annual report of the commission revealed today.

In addition to this saving the body has refused to allow rate increases aggregating $3,705,712, the report showed.

"That regulation of public utilities pays large dividends to the public is apparent from a comparison of the figures showing the cost of such regulation, and the amount of reductions in rates ordered, or of increases denied," said the report. "The total income from California's business of the public utilities operating within the state was $591,888,000 in 1927. The amount expended by the railroad commission in the regulation of these utilities during the fiscal year 1927-1928 was $518,104.38.

"It is apparent, therefore, that it has cost approximately one dollar to every $1000 of their revenue within the state to regulate the utilities in California. On the other hand, for every dollar expended by the commission in regulating utilities, there has been returned to the rate payers seven dollars in reduced utility charges irrespective of any savings accruing because of the refusal of the commission to sanction requested increases in rates, or the part played by the commission in winning substantial reductions in inter-state rates," said the report.

SANTA FE GIVEN BUILDING PERMIT

The California railroad commission today has granted permission to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad to construct a sidetrack at grade across Garden street and Commercial street in the vicinity of San Juan Capistrano.

The announcement said that at this time it was not deemed necessary or reasonable to provide grade separations or to avoid grade crossings. The permit was authorized on November 30.

Local Briefs

Albert L. Snyder, 22, and Mabel Jane Colborn, 19, both of Fullerton, have applied for a marriage license in Riverside.

The Blue Parrot Sweet Shoppe, adjoining the Yost Broadway theater, is now owned and operated by Bud Johnson. Johnson is well known in Santa Ana and Orange county, having lived here for the past twenty years. He promises new ideas in fountain lunch service for Santa Ana.

SPARR PRESENTS LOT TO SHEFFIELD

Capt. T. W. Sheffield, manager of the Sparr interests at Corona Del Mar, today was realizing the benefits of having done his duty well for the last four years.

For Captain Sheffield is the owner of an improved lot at Narcissus and Ocean avenues, Corona Del Mar, the gift of W. S. Sparr.

Transfer of the property was made today. The lot is valued at several thousand dollars and Sparr, in presenting it to the popular manager of his interests on the ocean front, declared it was in recognition of the captain's services during the last four years.

JANUARY 2 SET FOR HEARINGS ON ANNEXATION

Superior Judge H. G. Ames today set January 2 as the date for opening hearings on the attempt of the people of California to have annexation proceedings of the city of Santa Ana in the area north of this city declared void. The city of Orange is named as realtor in the case and will be represented by Harry L. Dearing, city attorney.

It is alleged that Santa Ana has usurped and claims the right to exercise the corporate franchise in the territory without authority. The area is claimed also by the city of Orange. Both communities held successful annexation elections in the same general region and part of the two areas overlap.

C. D. Swanner, city attorney of Santa Ana, will appear for the city. Santa Ana held the original election in the territory, which was lost. Before the city council had canvassed the vote, the city of Orange received a petition asking an election for annexation to that city. The election was successful. Property owners opposed to the Orange merger took the matter into superior court and the election proceedings were declared void on the ground that the territory was not contiguous to Orange. The matter was appealed to the higher court and has not yet been decided. After the Orange election, Santa Ana again held an election, which was successful. Now the controversy is awaiting court settlement in order that it may be determined which city has jurisdiction in the disputed territory.

CLEMENTE MAN MUST ANSWER WEAPON COUNT

Walter H. Schleeter, of San Clemente, where he is known as Jimmy Darling, will answer to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon in the justice court here December 21, following his arraignment, Saturday, before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison.

Schleeter was arrested by Herman Zabel, of the sheriff's office, and was held for two days on a charge of being a parole violator. He served terms in the Michigan state reformatory, the state prison in Kansas and in Folsom prison in this state. Zabel declared after taking Schleeter's fingerprints. The prisoner also is said to have admitted having a prison record.

Robert Gore, San Clemente, is the complaining witness in the weapon case.

356 NEW CASES OF 'FLU' REPORTED OVER WEEK END

Despite the fact that 356 new cases of influenza were reported in Orange county today, county health officials continued to be optimistic over the general situation.

Dr. Ben K. Parks, assistant health officer, pointed out that the reports covered two and one-half days instead of one day and that a number of reports contained cases accumulated for a week.

Looked at in this light, the situation today is unchanged, he explained. Santa Ana reported 97 cases; Irvine, one; Talbert, three; Fullerton, 45; Placentia, 13; Anaheim, 13; Wintersburg, two; Huntington Beach, nine; Costa Mesa, nine; Tustin, one; Westminster four; Orange, one; La Habra, 144, and Brea, 14. Dr. Parks stated that the La Habra report covered all of last week.

Information from Olive today was to the effect that 30 per cent of the students in the Olive school are absent and that the school trustees are considering the advisability of closing the school.

Other schools in the county which had been closed, including those in Fullerton and Anaheim, were planning to reopen today, it was reported.

Five nurses in the Orange County hospital were suffering from influenza today and, according to information, others have it but have not yet been forced to bed. Those unable to report for duty today were Esther Dunn, Helen Orsek, Mary Derry, Maxine Boller and Gertrude Frisch. None of the cases was reported as serious.

Fitts Promises Co-operation In Gambling Probe

As a result of a conference with Byron Fitts, district attorney of Los Angeles county, District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., of Orange county, announced today that he would co-operate with Fitts in legal proceedings in connection with the gambling ship Malfalcone, said to be operating either off the Orange county or the Los Angeles county coastline.

Fitts will delegate someone to work with West, he said today, and the two will work out some plan for handling the situation.

West stated that he was doubtful whether the ship really is off the Orange county coast, but pointed out that he was ready to co-operate in proceedings in the matter inasmuch as the vessel seems to be close to both counties and may very well be in either.

FOUR INJURED, ONE SERIOUSLY, IN AUTO CRASH

Four persons were injured, one seriously, when an automobile driven by Mrs. Catherine Jones, of 2186 West Twenty-ninth street, Los Angeles, collided with a machine operated by Clifford R. Harris, of 825 North Flower street, at South Main street and St. Andrews place at 3:50 p. m., yesterday.

The injured, Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bassett and E. V. Glasgow, all of Los Angeles, were removed to the Santa Ana Valley hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Bassett and Mrs. Jones suffered only slight bruises, while Glasgow suffered severe cuts and bruises and an injured back.

No one in the Harris car was reported hurt. The injured were in a small car which buckled up when it struck the Harris machine, according to a report made by city police, who investigated. The injured were removed to the hospital by Ben Craig, state traffic officer.

FIVE INJURED AS AUTO SKIDS OFF PAVEMENT

Five persons were injured at 9 o'clock last night when an automobile, occupied by seven persons, skidded on the wet pavement two miles south of San Juan Capistrano and went over a 20-foot embankment.

F. H. Wilson, 70, of 421 Orange avenue, and Bonnie Smith, 20, 317-1-2 North Main street, were taken to the San Clemente hospital, where it was said that Wilson was in a serious condition. He has been unconscious since the accident, but so far as is known did not suffer a fractured skull.

Miss Smith was cut about the face, but her condition is not serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, of 317-1-2 North Main street, and Virginia Wilson, 17, of 421 Orange avenue, were brought to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where it was said their injuries were not serious. Miss Wilson suffered from shock and Mr. and Mrs. Smith were cut and bruised. They were to be discharged from the hospital today.

The driver of the car, Vinton Wilson, 19, of 421 Orange avenue, and a brother were not hurt. Wilson made a report of the accident at the sheriff's office. State Traffic Officer James Cain aided in removing the injured to the hospitals.

Two women were in the Orange County hospital today suffering from broken legs received in auto mobile accidents in Orange county yesterday, but detailed reports of the accidents had not been filed with authorities.

The women were Mrs. Harriett Harris, 70, of the Haddon court, North Broadway, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Mary Honey, 67, of Orange.

Neff stated today that paving of South Main street as far as Dyer road has been completed and that the street probably will be opened to traffic about the middle of this week. The opening will enable motorists to reach Newport Beach on a route which is entirely paved, he pointed out.

Work on the remainder of the project had reached a point where a few more days of dry weather would have made it possible to complete the west half of the paving work, Neff said.

Orders License But Neglects To Tell What Kind

Orange county is going to get another good citizen from Illinois, a man with foresight and business ability, it was revealed today when County Clerk J. M. Backs opened his mail.

C. G. Jenks, of Mammoth, Ill., wrote Backs that he would come out here about January 1 and that, inasmuch as he plans to stay, he would like to get his new license in California. He wants to apply for it from Illinois.

"That's very well," remarked Backs as he scratched his head. "But we issue several kinds of licenses here. I don't know whether he wants a new marriage license, a hunting license or a fishing permit."

Many people have taken a chance, however, and Backs hazarded a guess that Jenks wishes an automobile license.

BIBLE CLASS HEARS MEXICAN ORCHESTRA

A Mexican orchestra played yesterday at the meeting of the Men's Community Bible class, with 110 members of the class present.

The orchestra was composed of E. Diaz, mandolin; Jose Sernana, violin; E. Rodriguez, cello; M. Diaz, guitar. They played "Carmen Del Rio," "El Zopilote Mado Flamenico," "El Mado Tango" and "Celia Danza."

Several musical selections also were offered by Mr. and Mrs. D. E. McGriff, including "Trouble Don't Last Always," "Rocks and Mountains, Don't Fall on Me" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

The women were Mrs. Harriett Harris, 70, of the Haddon court, North Broadway, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Mary Honey, 67, of Orange.

LES SHRADER WILL LEAVE SANTA ANA

Lester Schroeder, known to Santa Ana theater-goers as Les Shrader, who for the last three years has been connected with the West Coast-Walker orchestra here, and who, for the last year and a half has been master of ceremonies in the theater, has resigned his position and will leave Santa Ana.

He finished his engagement in the Santa Ana theater Saturday night, but will remain with the West Coast organization, it was said. Schroeder probably will be given the position of master-of-ceremonies in either one of two new West Coast houses now under construction, he said. One is in Glendale and the other in San Bernardino.

An accomplished musician, Schroeder plays all the wind instruments, as well as the piano and organ.

LA HABRA WILL BE SETTING OF J. B. ELLIS BOOK

LA HABRA, Dec. 3.—That this city has been selected as the setting for a novel written by J. Breckenridge Ellis was revealed last week. In announcing the fact to friends in La Habra, Ellis stated that while the city would appear undisputed in the forthcoming book, the characters were entirely fictitious.

The book will be called, "Dr. Oliver," and will be published by a New York publisher. It will make its appearance in the spring. Ellis and his mother have spent the past four or five winters in La Habra. Since that time they have arrived in the city about the tenth each December, remaining until spring.

Condemned to spend his waking hours in a wheel chair, he was confronted by the problem of ill health, lack of funds and the care of a family. His early ambitions to become a writer have been fulfilled in spite of these handicaps. Ellis has written many successful novels, one of which, "Fram," proved to be a best seller and was filmed.

Keep Looking Young

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 50c.—Adv.

HARTRANFT IN SPEECH BEFORE ANAHEIM ELKS

ANAHEIM, Dec. 3.—S. C. Hartman, former assemblyman, delivered the address at the Elks' memorial service held in the local lodge rooms here last night. The program started at 8 o'clock.

The musical program was under the direction of William Jackson and the services were in charge of Exalted Ruler Harry D. Riley. The regular Elks' altar service was presented by the staff of officers of the Anaheim lodge.

The following musical program was given: Vocal solos, Dr. G. B. Patterson, accompanied by Miss Carrie M. Sharp and by Mrs. Walter Ross; violin solo by Louis Romoff; accompanied by Miss Esther Romoff; cornet solo by A. W. Brownell of the Anaheim American Legion band, and a musical reading by Mrs. Samuel S. P. Kraemer Jr.

ANAHEIM BOY, 13, GONE FROM HOME

ANAHEIM, Dec. 3.—Police officers here have been asked to aid in the search for Edwin Callison, 13-year-old son of Mrs. L. W. Casere, 708 East Sycamore street, who disappeared from his home the latter part of the week. When last seen the lad was wearing blue overalls, brown shoes and a light cap. He is five feet three inches in height and weighs 104 pounds. It is thought that the boy may have lived in Texas, or to an aunt in Arizona.

$50,000 STRUCTURE SLATED FOR SAN CLEMENTE STREET; NEW HOME OF BANK, C. OF C.

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 3.—Virgil Westbrook, architect, is working on plans which call for the erection of a two-story, concrete, fireproof building for San Clemente. It will be the first structure of its kind in the Spanish village and will cost $50,000.

The building, to be erected and financed by Oscar Easley, San Clemente contractor, will house the bank, chamber of commerce and the second floor will be available for business offices.

Easley, owner of 50 feet on the state highway facing Avenida Del Mar, has purchased another 10 feet and his building will be 60 by 120. A fountain is to be built in the portion of the building that will be leased by the bank. A concrete safety deposit vault will be a feature of the building.

The chamber of commerce was to erect a structure on the Easley lot but his announcement of a $50,000 building for the land the chamber has moved a temporary structure to a place near the site of the new building. The office of the chamber will be moved to the structure today and when the bank block is finished the chamber will move to its new quarters.

Capt. H. H. Hammer, secretary of the chamber, says that the temporary structure, once the office of Carl Lindbom, architect, will make a good home until the organization's office can be moved into the new building. Hammer will be ready for business this afternoon.

Lower School Age Advised By Dean

EAGLE ROCK, Calif., Dec. 3.—(UP)—A lower age limit for children entering school is becoming necessary, according to Dr. Irene T. Meyers, dean of women at Occidental college.

The child three years old is becoming set in habit, temperament, self-control, and all other elements of personality, she said. For this reason skilled guidance is needed at an earlier age.

"The individual's needs, tendencies and abilities must receive more attention," according to the educator who believes the child must have expert direction.

BREA

BREA, Dec. 1.—F. W. Lake and Harry Yarbrough, representing the local office of the Union Oil company, left Thursday over the Southern Pacific route for Chicago, where they will be in attendance at the convention of the American Petroleum Institute December 4, 5, 6 and 7.

McCluer Senn, proprietor of the Mack's Trucking company, has added a two-ton Reo and a four-wheel trailer to his growing fleet of trucks.

Mrs. Maude Craig has returned to her work in Santa Ana following an enforced vacation because of a sprained ankle, sustained in Santa Barbara last Sunday. The accident occurred in a traffic tangle as Mrs. Craig was returning with friends from the big game at Berkeley.

Although the accident occurred more than three weeks ago, not many Brea people are aware of the fact that H. B. "Dad" Birney, one of the proprietors of the Speed and Service Trucking company, is still confined to his home, where physicians are attempting to save the sight of his left eye. The injury was sustained on a hunting trip when Birney was struck in the eye with a swaying piece of brush.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Parsons, who have been residing at the corner of Ash and Redwood, are moving their household goods to Olinda, where they will reside on the Columbia lease of the Associated Oil company.

Because of several unfinished details of the city hall and because moving into the council chambers would constitute an acceptance of the building from the contractors, the move has been delayed and will not now take place much before the middle of December, it is said.

The same condition prevails as to the moving of the Brea branch of the Orange county library.

Miss Catherine Burke, librarian, is, however, making all possible preparations for the move and will have the task reduced to a minimum when the time comes for the transfer.

FOUR PER CENT DIVIDEND FOR YEAR OLD BANK

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 3.—The Bank of San Clemente will declare a dividend of four per cent for the last six months of the bank's existence, which, counting the whole year, would make a dividend of eight per cent. This is unusual, according to bank authorities, for most banks do not declare dividends in their first year of existence. The San Clemente bank was founded November 19, 1927.

The dividend will be paid January 1 to stockholders of record of December 31. There are 93 stockholders of 500 shares of stock that sold for $120 per share. The board of directors have voted to transfer $1000 to the surplus account from current earnings, the balance to be transferred to the undivided profits account.

The bank has been credited by the state banking department as the fastest growing bank of $50,000 capitalization in the state. On November 19 it had undivided profits of $5,331.86 and deposits totaling $855,526.30.

H. H. Cotton is president of the bank; B. H. Brown, vice president; and Harry H. Cavin, cashier. The board of directors follow: Ole Hanson, H. H. Cotton, B. H. Bell, Harry H. Cavin, E. Echenique, Thomas Murphree sr., Trafford Hutson, W. J. Barry.

CAPISTRANO

Mrs. Mary Corlin was out of town for Thanksgiving day.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Dec. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hood and small son were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Ross Thursday evening. David Ross was home from Santa Ana for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Russell Cook left Friday for Mecca to lease a house for the winter. They returned Sunday.

The meeting is being held early in the month in order that preparations may be made for Christmas.

OIL OPERATOR BEGINS SOON ON STANTON TEST

STANTON, Dec. 3.—Despite preliminary difficulties, the proposed oil test for Stanton will get under way this month, it was declared today.

The derrick on the lease was attached and steps taken to remove the equipment. Fred Steele, who has a lease on a large tract in the district, expects to enter into contract with another firm for a derrick, it is said. The difficulty was between the derrick contractor and a lumber firm, it is said.

Steele expects to make a thorough test of the district and will go below 5000 feet if necessary, he says.

The company expects to employ 24 women and seven men after operations get under way, it is reported.

The plant will operate under a formula originated by S. Lee, L. Miller and A. P. Heaney are the managers.

Horse Trader Is Robbed Of Auto

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 3.—(UP)—J. Galvin is one of Modina's best "hoss traders" but he found himself slightly handicapped when he came to the "big city."

Driving serenely into Seattle in his brand new coach, Galvin was stopped by two youths in a de-lapidated flivver.

When the lads drove away Galvin was loser in the "hoss" trade. He had the flivver; the boys the new automobile.

"I had no gun," he told police. "And they had two of 'em."

GOLDEN GATE PARK CHANGES ARE PLANNED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—(UP)—The Egyptian building, originally the fine arts section of the Midwinter Fair of 1894, and later the original unit of the M. H. DeYoung Memorial museum in Golden Gate park here, is to be replaced by landscape, and a larger new museum is to be added, erected at the rear of the central tower of the present structure.

The Egyptian building was intended only as a temporary structure, and has not been in use for some time past because its condition was unsafe for occupancy. Its wrecking already is under way.

New landscaping will cover the vacated area, except that the stairway in front will be retained, as well as two large sphinxes.

The museum addition will be 175 by 164 feet, of reinforced concrete. In its center will be a high ceilinged court, 92 by 46 feet. Twenty-one new exhibition rooms will flank the court.

The De Young museum was first opened March 23, 1895, and M. H. DeYoung maintained his interest in it up to the day of his death, Feb. 15, 1925. He presented many of the exhibits, and paid for three additions which were deemed over to the city.

The sole remaining portion of the Midwinter Exposition is the Japanese Tea Garden, at the southern end of the museum. It still is conducted by the family of the man originally in charge of it, M. Nagawara.

NOTED ANIMAL KILLED AFTER 10 YEAR HUNT

LEWISTON, Idaho, Dec. 3.—(UP)—Old Web Horn, hunted for a decade by sportsmen, ranchers and trappers, is dead.

He was king of a great herd of Elk that roamed the Salmon River country and his fame spread far and wide in the fraternity of huntsmen.

Today, however, his career had led him to a taxidermist shop after he had been shot to death in his mountain lair by B. E. Callison of Kendrick, Idaho.

The graceful head which for years was rumored to have held antlers bearing as high as 50 points, was found to contain 36 prongs this year. Speedy and cunning though he was, the ancient monarch was found to have sustained many scars before he was finally trapped in his covert and slain.

One eye had been dimmed by years of watching for human foes and cougars. One leg was stiff and a joint swollen many times normal size. One ear had been shot away and the animal's tough hide bore numerous marks which indicated many battles.

MOVIE SCENES MAY BE TAKEN NEAR SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Dec. 3.—(UP)—As a result of a visit here by Lloyd Bacon, director for Warner Bros., Seattle and the Puget Sound region may furnish the background for a motion picture characteristic of the development of this section.

Bacon, whose most recent memorable production was "The Singing Fool," said he expected to spend some time investigating the possibility of using this section as the setting for a motion picture drama.

He recalled an amusing experience during his last visit here, 20 years ago, when his stock company played in Aberdeen.

One night the company noticed excitement in the orchestra pit. They found the bass drummer struggling with a line in his hand which led through the floor of the theater, built on piles over tideland.

The drummer had been fishing and had hooked a "big one," and struggled with it until one of his fellows went below and released it from the hook.

sons, Edward and George Earl of Compton; Melvin Hanselman and Violet McElarran, of Los Angeles, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Hanselman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Nichols and family are spending several days in San Diego.

REPRODUCTION OF MENTALLY UNFIT CURBED

By ED JOHNSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 3.—California's campaign for a survival of the fittest, by depriving the unfit of their powers to reproduce their kind, has gone forward rapidly in the last decade, records of the state department of institutions here show.

Since the state sterilization law went into effect July 27, 1917, 6,207 mentally or physically unfit persons have been sterilized, according to Director Earl E. Jensen.

On a basis of three children each for these persons (defectives usually propagate faster than others) the state has been spared the care of over 18,000 sub-normal individuals.

"Sterilization is never attempted except with the consent of the nearest relative or guardian," Jensen stated. "In many cases requests for sterilization are made even before we have determined whether or not it is expedient."

Only two deaths, neither of them directly attributable to the operation, have resulted from these operations, Jensen said. The patient suffers no ill effects, and his natural functions are not impeded, he declared.

While sterilization work here proceeds at the normal rate, psychiatrists in Europe have reopened controversy, some of them asserting that operations are too numerous. Dr. Toulouse, director of the Henry-Rousseau Psychiatric Hospital, in Paris has declared that sterilization of all abnormal is not justified.

"The descendants of some abnormal," Dr. Toulouse told a United Press correspondent in Paris, "will not necessarily be tainted. They may not only be more or less normal but sometimes gifted with rare intellectual qualities."

California's procedure, however, has allowed for this possibility, Jensen declared. "Feeble mindedness is concededly transmissible, but in the case of the insane, we must proceed with caution," he said. "Childbirth, however, often precipitates nervous disorders in women and for that reason sterilization often is for the sake of the mother rather than for her potential offspring."

This sudden development in motors makes hard carbon a curse

ALL THE newer motors are higher compression. That means less space for carbon—even as little as 1/32 of an inch—between piston and cylinder head.

You know, of course, that carbon causes trouble. You've seen it scraped from spark plugs, pistons, valves. You've had your motor knock and show strain, choked with carbon. And with these new engines carbon is a veritable curse!

Perhaps you never thought of it, but this coke-carbon comes from burned oil. And many oils leave hard, flinty carbon—the kind that builds up in layers.

There is one oil, however, that every motorist should know about. An oil only recently developed.

Only a little soft soot

A new high vacuum process produces it. A refining method so gentle that none of the sturdy lubricant body is lost. A marvelous resistance to heat, to congealing cold. Shell Motor Oil is truly a fine lubricant.

Carbon? Less than any other oil—2/3 less than even the costliest oils! No hard, gritty carbon—only a little soft soot that blows away.

Thus in this one oil you combine fine lubrication with protection from the scourge of carbon. Truly you can "add thousands of miles to the life of your car" with Shell Motor Oil.

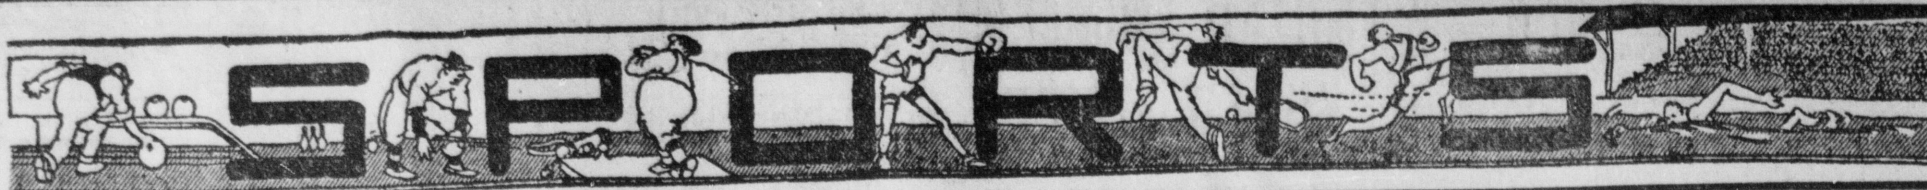

Older motors might find room for a handful of coke-like carbon. There is but a knife blade of "clearance" in our fine new engines—no room for carbon.

SHELL MOTOR OIL

Shell 400, the new "dry" gas that burns cleanly and keeps out of the crankcase, is the ideal running mate for Shell Motor Oil. Even Shell Motor Oil can be ruined by "thinning" with a "wet" gas

The Brooklyn Dodgers are willing to give the Pittsburgh Pirates Wright.
Bancroft doesn't hit enough.
Leo Durocher, the world's freshest rookie, is spending the winter making speeches at luncheons and banquets around Springfield, Mass.

Mizzell, the Georgia Tech player, who writes pieces for the papers, says that Holm of the Alabama is the best fullback he saw this year.
Notre Dame and Iowa have rotten press accommodations.

HERE THEY COME!
The melancholy days are here. The All-Sectional and All-This and All-That teams are rolling in. The youth is the first to bat with the selection of an expert on the best players in his section.

Nash Higgins, chief scout for Florida University, is first up with his selection, and it is interesting to see there are a lot of good football players in the territory he has covered. He has seen 15 of the best teams in the south, and here is his choice:

First team: Vansickle, Florida; E. E. Maree, Georgia Tech; L. T. Steele, Florida; L. G. Pressley, Clemson; C. Vaughn, N. C. State; R. G. Lautzenheiser, Georgia; R. E. Abernathy, Vanderbilt; R. E. Crabtree, Florida; Q. B. Mizell, Georgia Tech; L. H. B.; Banker, Alabama; R. H. B.; Lumpkin, Georgia Tech; F. B.

GOOD TEAMS DOWN THERE

It would appear from Scout Higgins' observations that Georgia Tech and Tennessee have night smart teams and that Georgia Tech has one swell backfield. It is obvious from all reports by wire and wireless that Tennessee has a magnificent quartet behind the line in Durant, Mizell, Thomason and Lumpkin. Not another Four Horsemen, perhaps, but fair enough.

As a group there may be only one backfield in the country to compare with those boys, and it may be the Pennsylvania combination of Shober, Scull, Murphy and Opekun.

The opinion of Higgins on the eastern position will be of interest to eastern critics. He rates Pressley of Clemson as a better center than Peter Pund, the Georgia Tech captain. And it is not betraying a confidence that some of the eastern critics, who like to have a good geographical representation on their All-American selection, were prepared to slip Master Pund in there and consider it a job well done.

WHEN YOU KNOW HOW

Reports that Eddie Casey may succeed Arnold Horween as the Harvard varsity football coach are of more than ordinary interest in the middle west.

Casey took his first whirl at coaching at Mount Union after he left Cambridge, and he wasn't a sensation, to put it kindly.

One of the players who worked under him at the little college said that as a coach Eddie was a magnificent All-American player.

When he was working with the backfield and had some corrections to offer he would stop the scrimmage and take the place of one of the backs.

Taking the pass from center he would run through the whole team for a touchdown and then ask of the boys: "See how it is done?"

The boys saw all right but—Casey returned to Harvard later and became a huge success as the freshman coach.

No conclusions.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL MEN OPEN HARD PRACTICE TONIGHT

For the first time, separate basketball practice for each team will start tonight at Andrews' gymnasium at the high school, when the varsity under Coach Clyde Patton, will don hoop paraphernalia.

The varsity this year will of necessity be composed mostly of football players. Headed by Captain Curt Youel, practically all candidates will have played on the strong Saint pigskin squad.

An added setback to the team was sustained when it was learned that Alvin Rebohn will be out of suit. Coach Oliver wants the fast-sneaking Rebohn for his track team and basketball is taboo. Oliver also has his eye on next year's football team so the hoopsters will just be out of luck.

The "Dees" will be bargaining

DEFEAT OF BIG EAST ELEVEN STUNS CRITICS

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Prominent Eastern sports editors passed the 1928 football palm to the Pacific Coast with impressive unanimity today. And Eastern sports writers do not, as a rule, wear their hearts on their sleeves as far as the West is involved.

"Intercollegiate football prestige, like rowing supremacy and track and field superiority, is sojourning comfortably in sunny California," said Harry Cross, sports editor of the Herald-Tribune in his column today.

"Eastern football has been forced into a back seat by the Westerners for the simple reason that they display more ingenuity and enthusiasm in their football affairs. The Stanford team which beat Army and Oregon which beat N. Y. U. were both defeated by other Coast teams and so there is little ground for quibbling about the strength of Pacific Coast football this season."

Card Mastery Complete
"The Stanford team was about the best football organization that has been seen hereabouts during the present season. No team playing in the East showed as little wasted motion as Stanford. Its mastery of details was impressive."

Robert F. Kelley in the New York Times wrote: "The victory of each Coast team (Oregon and Stanford) was so completely and thoroughly earned, as to leave no doubt of the teams' merits. Both Oregon State and Stanford had far more variety in their attacks than the majority of teams on the Eastern seaboard."

"This is the first time in modern play that Pacific Coast teams have come East. Eastern teams have gone West and seldom won there, the explanation being that the trip and the change of climate were too much for the players. These two games have completely disproved that theory. The two winners played better football in every respect."

DRAFT CONFERENCE GRID SKED FRIDAY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Because of the delayed return of Oregon State and Stanford athletic officials the Pacific Coast conference meeting, scheduled for Thursday, will not open business sessions until Friday, it was announced today.

Coaches and graduate managers are expected to draft next year's football schedule Friday morning. Rumors that some action would be taken to oust Montana from the conference could not be confirmed in any official circle.

HE TOOTS SAX

Mickey Cochrane, the Philadelphia catcher and voted the most valuable man in the American League last year, is now doing a vaudeville act that has a saxophone number as a finale.

for another championship this year and prospects are good. Coach Bill Cook will have Russell Sullivan and Marvin Johnstone back from last year plus some promising recruits from the Class "Cees." These include "Woody" Barnett, forward; Burt Winslow, guard; Asa Herrin, forward; Joe McChesney, center and Earl Homan, forward, to say nothing of Jimmy Hall, "C" captain last year and Joe Streeter, a newcomer from Visalia.

Coach Clyde Cook will have his Class C charges under way soon, although he has had the flu for the past week. He has arranged a tentative game with Orange for Friday and is on the lookout for others. He will have to use Junior high players almost exclusively and prospects are rather hazy at present.

10,000 Rush Orders For Jan. 1 Game

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Football interest on the Pacific Coast turned today to the annual New Year's Day game of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses.

Rose Bowl officials announced that 10,000 applications already had been received to see California and Georgia Tech meet on January 1.

Since Pacific Coast teams already have proven a superiority over Mid-Western and Far-East eleven, a victory for the Golden Bears over Tech would give the West Coast a decided edge over the entire country.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

After a football season in which everybody that happened to be anybody happened to be a backfield man, the possibilities for going wrong in the selection of an All-American team may be said to be excellent. It is the presumption of Mrs. Walsh's boy today that undoubtedly he has gone wrong, reading from left to right and from front to rear. As a matter of fact, the man doesn't live who can name the best backs of the year from the staggering list at hand and make everybody like his work.

There has been no attempt however, to appoint backfield stars by the positions they occupied during the year. Both Cagle and Strong ran to their right but I don't see what that has to do with it. They were the best runners of the season and what we are trying to do is arrive at a selection of the four leaders and place them in one backfield. I happen to think they were Cagle, Strong, Mizell and Scull.

This alignment shunts Harpster to the second team where, possibly he doesn't belong. However, some one must suffer for the extreme prodigality of backs this year and Harpster's position in this respect is no worse than that of scores of fine ball players who don't make the rifle anywhere.

Sombody obviously must take the rap here and Harpster, dropped beyond the first flight, simply is giving way before what appears to be the natural superiority of four others. He cannot run with Strong and Cagle. He cannot punt with Scull—nobody can do that—nor can he catch passes, support the line and kick goals with the great Pennsylvanian. Mizell can do everything Harpster can do and a few other things strictly on his own.

It seems almost criminal to place Hoffman no higher than the second team and what Maple, Oregon Aggie, and the Stanford backs in general showed here would appear to indicate that they must belong somewhere on some team.

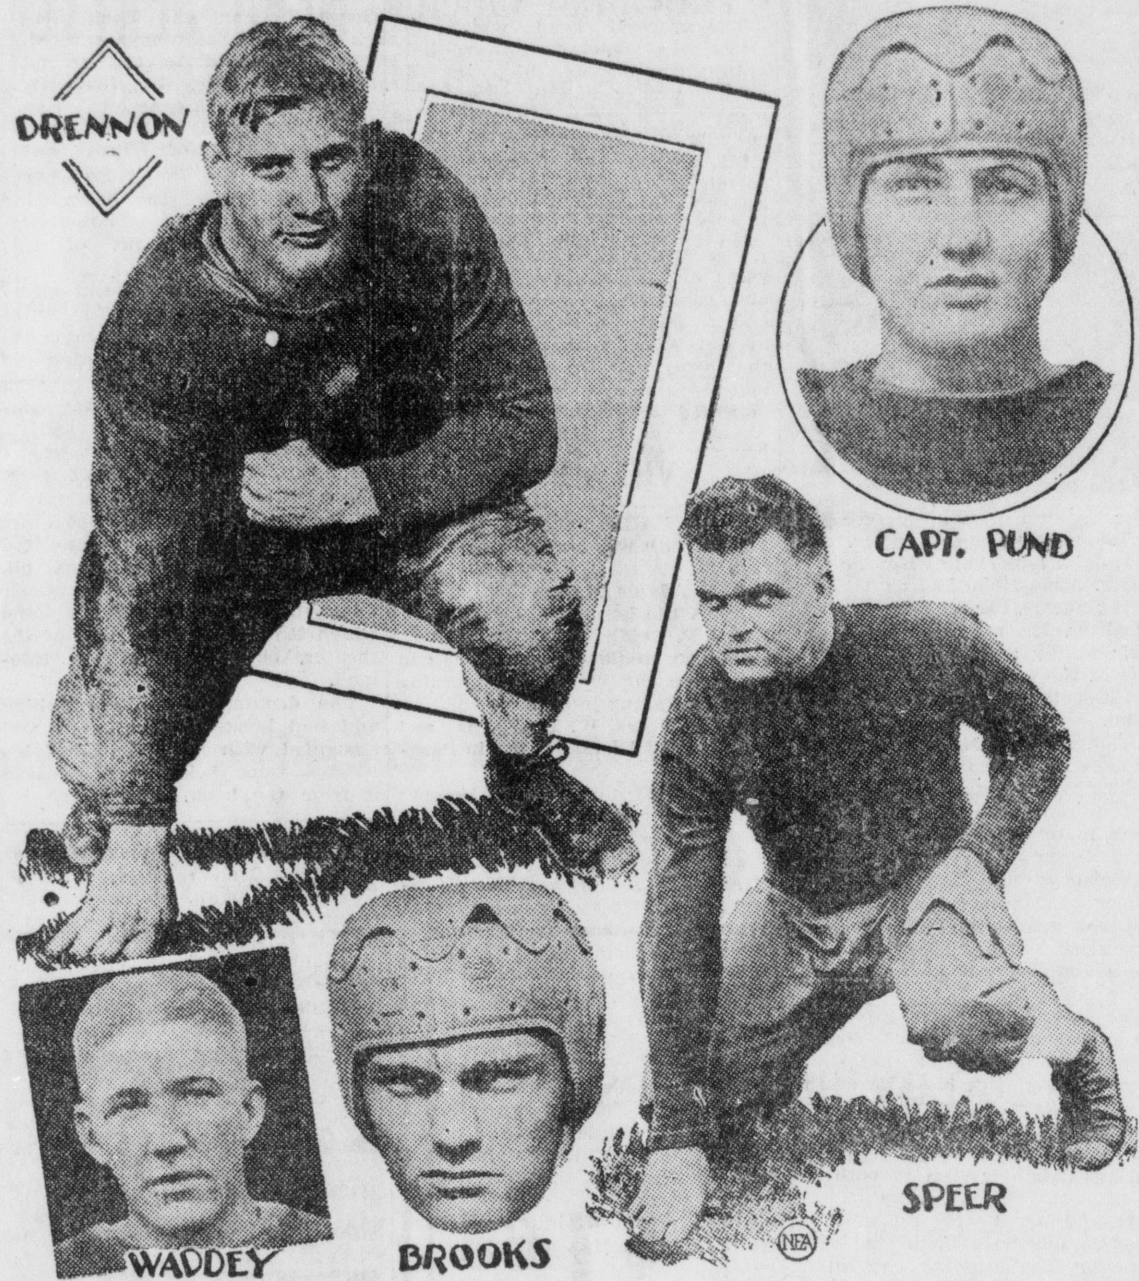

However, Carroll generally is rated above them on the coast. He rose grandly above the misfortunes of a losing team, just as Cagle did in the Army-Stanford game. With that Cardinal line in front of him, Cagle would be running yet. No All-American team is plausible without him.

ROOTED AGAINST EACH OTHER

When Northwestern played football this fall, Jack Hendricks rooted for his alma mater, Northwestern, and his eldest son, Jack, Jr., rooted for his alma mater, Indiana.

THEY'LL MEET CALIFORNIA AT PASADENA

Georgia Tech is now the only team of consequence in the country that has not been beaten or tied and a victory over University of Georgia next Saturday will give the Atlanta eleven the best claim to a national championship. Tech has agreed to play University of California at Pasadena on New Year's Day. Below are some of the leading Tech players. Captain Pete Pund is a prominent candidate for All-American honors.

MANY SECTION GAMES BOOKED FOR NEXT YEAR

By LEO FISCHER

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—If anyone entertains suspicion that the recent football season was about the best we could possibly have, just let him wait a moment before committing himself irrevocably to that idea. Today we are privileged to present the 1929 Big Ten schedule, and a quick perusal of the dates reveals big games, more big games and then some more of 'em.

Intersectional clashes galore are listed for the conference eleven. Harvard, Yale, Pittsburgh, Navy, Army, Colgate and Princeton are some of the Eastern clubs scheduled to match skill with Big Ten outfits this coming fall, just by way of a starter.

The University of Washington Huskies, never before seen in these parts, are due to come here for a contest with Chicago, while the South sends Vanderbilt Northward to oppose Minnesota as another addition to intersectional play.

Here, briefly, are some of the outstanding dates on next year's card, to be announced officially this Friday and Saturday at the annual Big Ten meeting:

Chicago at Princeton, Nov. 2.
Washington at Chicago, Nov. 23.

Army at Illinois, Nov. 9.

Colgate at Wisconsin, Oct. 5.

Harvard at Michigan, Nov. 9.

Vanderbilt at Minnesota, Oct. 12.

Ohio at Pittsburgh, Nov. 2.

Navy at Ohio, Nov. 16.

Intersectional games alone, however, are not all that add glamour to the conference list. Notre Dame perennial rival of the Big Ten teams, makes three appearances against eleven from Major Griffith's circuit—Indiana, Wisconsin and Northwestern.

The Northwestern clash is the first of a three-game series arranged several years ago, and will wind up the season at Dyche stadium, November 23. Rockne's Ramblers are booked to meet Indiana at Bloomington October 5, and Wisconsin at South Bend October 19. There are reports that the latter may be transferred to Soldier field, but it is our understanding that the contract with Northwestern provides that no other games are to be played locally except the one with the Wildcats.

Register To Pick League Grid Eleven

The Santa Ana Daily Register's annual All-Coast Preparatory League football team will be published on the sports pages of this newspaper tomorrow.

The selections were made by Eddie West, sports editor, in conjunction with the sports editors of the leading newspapers in the cities represented. These writers polled their nominations this year and the players getting the most attention for each position were selected so the All-League team of 1928 is much more unbiased than ever before.

Three Santa Anans, George Warner, end; Jimmy Musick, quarterback; and Bill Dugger, fullback, made the first string last season.

SHATTUCK WINS IN LORENZ CUP PLAY AT CLUB

George B. Shattuck, one of the real veterans of the Santa Ana Country club's golfing membership, earned another leg on the Lorenz cup Saturday when he shot 83-71 to whip a field of 16 contestants in 18 holes of medal play.

J. K. McDonald, with 79-6-73 trailed Shattuck closest. J. L. Ainsworth had 85-10-75 and C. P. Boyer 99-22-77.

Shattuck's score also was the best for Class A ball sweepstakes and McDonald and Ainsworth finished behind him in order. C. F. Newton, 88-18-70, won in Class B medal play. C. E. Downie, 87-16-71, was second and Herb Miller, 94-22-72, third. T. B. Talbert

LOCAL SCHOOLS TO FINISH S. A. GRID CAMPAIGN

Santa Ana's 1928 football season will be brought to a close Wednesday afternoon in a game between the city's two junior high school eleven—Frances E. Willard and Julia C. Lathrop.

Arrangements were made today by Coaches Ferris Scott and Arnold Lund, of Lathrop and Willard, respectively, to play the annual "Big Game" at Poly field if weather and influenza conditions permit.

Coach Scott issued a call for all Julia Lathrop players to gather at Lathrop field tomorrow at 2 p. m. for a last workout and it was presumed that the Willard players will practice sometime tomorrow. Both schools were to have worked out today but inclement weather prevented.

The "Big Game" was to have been played a week ago Wednesday but was called off on account of the flu which had some of the best members of both teams on their backs. Julia Lathrop played the Anaheim Class B squad instead and as a result the Spartans probably will have to get along without the services of their crack quarterback Lewis, against Frances Willard. Lewis sustained a severe cut over his eye in the Anaheim melee.

and C. P. Boyer, both 99-22-77, tied for fourth.

In match play against par Sunday, Ed Holmes, three down, was Class A winner and H. L. Miller, two down, best in Class B. E. V. Curry, E. T. Mateer and R. E. Graves were back of Holmes and Ed Christenson and H. J. Lowe in closest pursuit to Miller.

AWARD BOTTOMLEY N. L. PLAYER PRIZE

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Players on a pennant-winning national league team who are candidates for the most valuable player award in the future will be judged partly on their work in the world's series, it was indicated today following the choice of "Sunny Jim" Bottomley, St. Louis first baseman, as the 1923 winner. He received 76 votes, six more than his only serious rival, Fred Lindstrom of the New York Giants.

"Sunny Jim" will receive a diploma and $1000 in gold.

Although Bottomley's bat proved to be full of holes in the last two months of the season and during the world's series, he was chosen because of his great playing in the first four months of the campaign. His ability to drive in runs in the first half of the season practically won the pennant for the Cards.

LEARN A LESSON

Two scalpers of tickets for the recent Chicago-Illinois game were arrested and fined $25 by Chicago authorities.

Florida Leading Football Scorer In Whole Nation

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—As a result of its 60-6 victory over Washington and Lee on Saturday, Florida has captured high scoring honors for the year among the country's football teams. With 324 points, the Alligators lead New York university, the runner-up, by 8 points.

Other leaders are: Georgetown, 299; Stanford, 274; Pennsylvania, 271; Detroit, 267, and Southern California, 267.

M'Cord To Retire As Grid Official

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Ralph McCord, Pacific Coast football referee and for more than 20 years a figure in coast athletics, has announced his retirement from all sport activities. McCord, who umpired the University of Southern California and Notre Dame game Saturday, said he will devote his time to his insurance business.

YOUTH RULES IN MEXICO

The best tennis player in Mexico is Ricardo Tapia and the best woman player is his sister. He is 18 and she is 16.

BASEBALL MANAGERS GATHER IN TORONTO

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 3.—Owners and managers of baseball clubs in all parts of the United States began to assemble here today for the annual minor league meetings, which will be continued through most of the week. Meetings of the International league and the American association will start the program.

An effort probably will be made during the week to clarify the draft problem. At present the majors can draft only former big leaguers from the American association, International league, the Pacific Coast league, the Three-Eye circuit and the Western league. The major leagues want all players in their leagues made subject to the draft.

HARLEY RIDDERS WIN

Quite a number of Santa Ana bugs attended the "grudge race" between the Indians and Harley-Davidson's which was held at Muroc Dry lakes. Competition has been keen between these two cycle companies in regard to speed. The Harley-Davidson motorcycles won at an average speed of 105 miles an hour over a distance of 50 miles.

Well, What More Could He Expect In This Racket?

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—W. H. B. Fowler, general manager of the San Francisco Chronicle and graduate of Stanford university, came all the way to New York to watch the football team of his alma mater play the Army.

A few minutes before game-time Saturday he was seized with an attack of acute indigestion and removed to his hotel room. He learned about the game from newspapers and did not see a minute of play.

Morrison In Tie for Hawaiian Open

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 3.—"Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, crack Chicago golfer, met his match here yesterday when Fred Morrison of Alhambra, Calif., came from behind to tie him for the Hawaiian Open golf championship. Each turned in a card of 291 strokes for the 72 holes of tournament play. Third and fourth honors went respectively to Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., with 292, and Francis Brown of Honolulu, with 293.

S. A. GIRL DEFEATED IN NET TOURNAMENT

Santa Ana high school hit too much competition Saturday in the Southern California interscholastic tennis tournament which was held in Fullerton and with one exception, dropped out early in the day.

Miss Mae Magg, local racquet wielder, downed Miss Curtis, Alhambra, in the quarter-finals, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1, but Miss Marlowe, from Manual Arts, Los Angeles, the eventual winner, eliminated Miss Magg in the semi-finals, 6-0, 6-1. Miss Cleora Fine, the other girl from Santa Ana, was defeated at the first round, but only after a hard struggle, the last set going to 7-5.

Grove Dolman and Leclit Slaback were the Saint boys entered. Dolman advanced to the second round after beating his first opponent. Hugh MacArthur, San Diego, the finalist with Ellsworth Vines from Pasadena, then beat Dolman. Slaback hit a stickler the first time around and was put out of the running.

ANOTHER COLLEGIAN

Dick Porter, the new Cleveland outfielder, got his start at St. John's College in Baltimore.

'Red' Cagle Will Captain Army In Next Grid Season

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 3.—The meteoric gridiron career of Christian K. ("Red") Cagle, whose spectacular broken field runs have thrilled a million football fans, had reached its peak today with his election as captain of the Army eleven for 1923.

Cagle already is being picked on All-American teams for the second successive year. He is 23 years old and will be playing with the cadets for the fourth season next year. He formerly attended South-Western Louisiana institute and is a native of Merryville, La.

Barrager Elected New Troy Captain

Barrager's unflinching loyalty to his team and his outstanding work throughout the season as center of the U. S. C. Trojans today stands recognized by his fellow players, who have chosen him their captain for 1923.

The energetic captain-elect was picked unanimously by his teammates in the dressing rooms after Southern California had wound up the best season of its gridiron history by a brilliant victory over Notre Dame by a score of 27 to 14.

Trojans To Lose Many Grid Stars

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—University of Southern California's football team will lose half of its starting backfield and the entire left side of its line by graduation this year. Don Williams, quarter, and Lloyd Thomas, right half, both All-American prospects, will be lost from the backfield, while Lowry McCaslin, left end; Captain Jesse Hibbs, left tackle and 1927 All-American, and Charles Boren, left guard, will no longer be seen in a Trojan grid lineup.

The right side of the line, Francis Tappaan, end; Frank Anthony, tackle; Clark Galloway, guard, and Nathan Barrager, center, will remain intact next year, these four men being juniors this season.

Four Jailed On Charges Of Driving While Intoxicated

ALLEGED KNIFE WIELDER SEIZED AFTER BATTLE

One man was in the Orange County hospital today in a serious condition, and another was in the county jail, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, as the result of a cutting scrape, in Placentia late last night.

Santos Jimenez, 40, Placentia laborer, is suffering from a six-inch gash in his back, which attendants in the hospital declared to be serious.

The alleged knife wielder is Salue Peris, 35, La Jolla, who was arrested in the small Mexican settlement early this morning by Jess Buckles, Placentia constable, who worked on the case throughout the night.

According to Buckles, Peris, Jimenez and another Mexican, named Joe Samodie, were drinking together last night. They started walking down the railroad track when Jimenez was hit over the head and then stabbed in the back.

The fight started over an argument the men are asserted to have had, according to Buckles, who scouted the idea that the attack was made on Jimenez in a robbery attempt.

Hospital attendants stated that they did not believe Jimenez' wound would prove fatal.

RUNAWAY ANAHEIM YOUTH IS SOUGHT

The sheriff's office today was asked to search for Edwin D. Callison, 13-year-old Anaheim youth, who is asserted to have run away from his mother's home at 708 East Sycamore street, Anaheim, Saturday.

The boy may have gone to Texas, his mother told officers.

When last seen he was wearing blue overalls, blue or brown stockings and a brown cap. He has dark eyes and hair.

Mexican Charged With Driving His Family Into Street

Asserted to have driven members of his family into the street during the rain last night, while they were ill, Y. Ybarra, 49, of 1708 1/2 West Fifth street, was arrested early last night by Officers Perry and Adams, and is being held in the county jail on charges of disturbing the peace and being drunk.

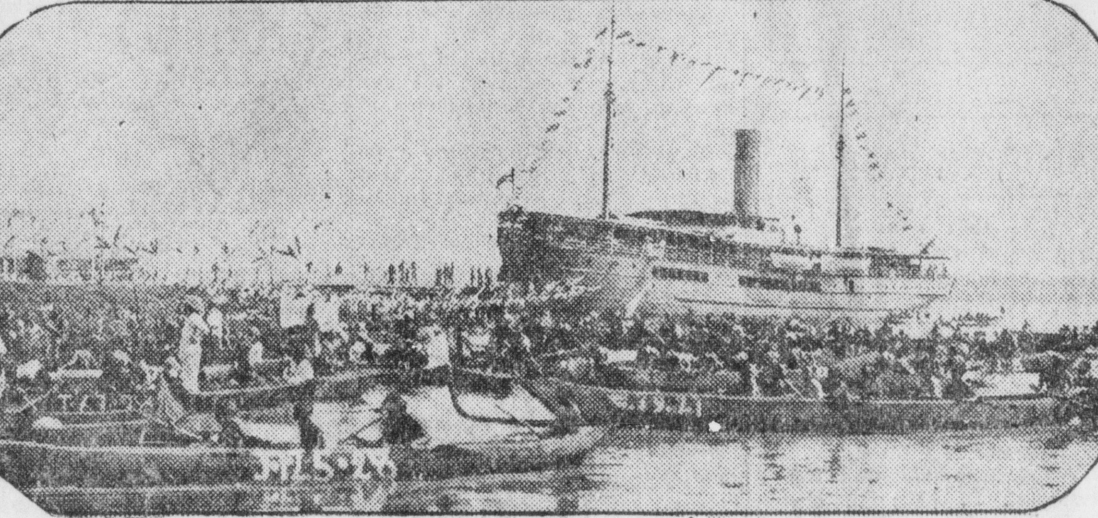

Police News

Thieves who broke into the Wallace restaurant, 407 1/2 North Birch street, some time last night, stole a slot machine, according to a report made to the city police. Nothing else was reported taken.

An automobile owned by J. P. Fitzgerald, of the U. S. S. Tennessee, San Pedro, was reported stolen from near Third and Spurgeon streets early last night. It had not been found late today.

BRITISH KING'S LAST PUBLIC APPEARANCE

The photo above, which has just reached the United States, shows the latest appearance of King George V, of Great Britain, whose illness has alarmed the empire. It was taken at the Armistice day ceremonies at the Cenotaph in Whitehall, in the shadow of Trafalgar square. King George appears just behind the cross and standing behind him are the Duke of York and Prince Arthur of Connaught. The Indian potentates to the left are the Maharajah of Kashmir, the Maharajah of Patiala and the Aga Khan. The picture below shows the Prince of Wales' ship, the S. S. Clement, arriving at Entebbe, Uganda, on his present African hunting trip. In the foreground are the canoes of the Sesso islanders who gave the prince a spectacular welcome.

SILVERTHORN IN CHURCH POST AT STANFORD

The Rev. R. H. Silverthorn and family today had arrived in Palo Alto, following their departure for the university city Saturday.

The Rev. Mr. Silverthorn, who was assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church here for two years, has accepted the position of resident pastor at Stanford university. He will enter the college for post graduate work, the opportunity to continue his studies being one of the incentives for acceptance of the appointment.

By reason of his keen interest in church and civic affairs and boys' work, the Rev. Mr. Silverthorn was popular here and his departure is regretted by a large number of persons.

Farm Bureau To Launch Member Campaign Today

The annual membership campaign of the Orange County Farm bureau will be launched at a dinner at 6 p. m., today, at which chairmen of membership committees from the various farm centers will be present. The affair is to be held at the Orange County Fair grounds.

According to Norman M. Blaney, secretary of the organization, a quota of 2000 has been set. The present membership is 1270.

Louis Livingstone, western representative of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will be the main speaker at tonight's session, at which instructions to workers will be given out. The campaign will last for two weeks.

COUNTY SCHOOL PROBLEMS WILL BE CONSIDERED

With a meeting of the education committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce called for the chamber office at 5 p. m., tomorrow, and a meeting of the education committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce called for tomorrow night, in the same place, indications today pointed to the two organizations initiating action on educational propositions in this city and in the county.

It is understood that the Santa Ana committee will discuss local situations and the possibility of creation of junior college district to embrace the south half of the county and make recommendations to the chamber as to action it should take concerning school problems.

The proposed junior college district probably will be the absorbing topic of discussion by the committee representing the county organization. The conference tomorrow night will be preliminary to the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce in Laguna Beach, Thursday night, when it is expected that discussion of the junior college proposal will be featured.

A conference of the Santa Ana board of education and representatives of the Newport Beach-Costa Mesa district, scheduled for the board of education rooms tomorrow night, has been postponed to Tuesday night, Dec. 11, it was announced today.

FRANTIC CRIES SAVE WOMAN FROM ATTACK

Sheriff's officers yesterday afternoon searched for a man who is alleged to have made an attempted attack on Mrs. H. G. Wilson, of Anaheim, while she was alone at her home.

Mrs. Wilson reported she heard someone drive into the driveway of her home, located four miles west of Anaheim on Broadway. She went out on the front porch and a man in a small car asked her the way to Santa Ana.

She told him, but he said he did not understand and got out of the car and walked to the porch. He explained that he was deaf. She repeated her instructions and he then is said to have grabbed her.

Mrs. Wilson screamed and attracted the attention of her husband, who was working in a field nearby. He started running to the house, but the man jumped into his car and got away before the license number of the machine could be secured.

A watch was maintained on roads leading from the place and into Santa Ana, but the man was not seen again.

A LETTER TO "THE FUMIGATOR"

Dear Tom: I have read "The Fumigator" since it started in The Register, and usually with considerable interest and entertainment. Your squibs have been pointed in a good-natured way and I have liked them; but, Tom, take my advice and keep to politics, service clubs, chambers of commerce, etc., and don't dabble in health and hygiene. Your verse, "A Sure Cure," in the The Register of Thursday, November 29, was in my opinion, about the most awful drivel that ever soiled white paper.

It was worse than mere drivel, however, in that it attacked the common sense of the medical profession, and of the members of our school boards and also made light of the sufferings of hundreds of thousands of unfortunate who have of late been knowing the miseries of influenza. In this poetic effusion of yours you say: "Arise, my friend, this business end No germ can conquer you;"

"Now," thought I when I read that, "there is for sure the prize piece of bunk." But the following line revealed a still more feeble-minded wheeze, viz:

"For stronger minds call it Nonsense all"

While others call it Flu."

Ye gods, what a philosopher have we here—what a reader of men's minds and interpreter of their thoughts! Yea verily, a Daniel, a Daniel has come to judgment!

Stronger minds call it nonsense! Who are the stronger minds—Thos. E. Pickrell, of course, but who else?

So the thousands who have died of influenza at one time and another have died of Nonsense, have they? Well, well! Let me suggest, Tom, that if you want to test the appeal such philosophy would have to one who knows go to the home of a fair sized man who is recovering from an attack of influenza and say to him: "Get up. You have no 'flu.' Stronger minds call it Nonsense." If you got away with a whole skin and two unblackened eyes it would be because the convalescent was still too weak to give you what you deserved.

I am not going to say anything about the sly rap you take at the medical fraternity for "rumin' with treatments cunning"—the men of medicine are amply able to defend themselves.

So, of course, are the members

NO WHITE HOUSE WEDDING

"No, it isn't going to be a White House wedding," Miss Florence Trumbull, daughter of Connecticut's governor and reported fiancée of young John Coolidge, told reporters in New Orleans. She intimated the wedding would take place soon after President Coolidge retires on March 4. Miss Trumbull is shown here with her father, Gov. John H. Trumbull, as they attended the recent governors' conference in New Orleans.

BOYS CLAIMING TO BE DEAF MUTES DECIDE TO TALK AS SENTENCE IN SCHOOL LOOMS

"Judge, I want to talk; I'm not dumb any more," said George Brown, one of two youths arrested here the other day for begging on the streets, claiming to be deaf mutes.

Brown came to his decision after posing in the juvenile court as a deaf mute and after L. A. Warren, probation officer, suggested to the judge that Brown and his friend, Clare Johnson, either talk or go to the Preston school for boys.

The boys were told that they would be given five minutes to decide whether they wanted to talk or not and that they could get up from their seats and go out in the hall while making up their minds. Without the aid of signs the youths understood and went to the hallway. They returned in a few minutes, ready to talk.

The case was turned over to Warren for disposition.

A third person was arrested with the boys, but he will be given a hearing in the city court here, Warren said.

EXAMINER FOR INSURANCE CO. CAUGHT IN NET

Charges of operating automobiles in Orange county while under the influence of liquor landed four men in the county jail over the week end. A fifth man, passenger in one of the cars, was charged with possession of liquor.

Emory F. Crepeau, 35, examiner for a title insurance company, residing at 1315 West Nineteenth street, Los Angeles, was arrested on the Irvine boulevard early last night by Officers Adams and Craig, of the state police. His car was weaving from one side of the road to the other, the officers said.

Walter Meyer, state traffic officer, arrested C. M. Coelho, 33, a Brazilian, near Smelter at 5:30 yesterday afternoon, when his alleged reckless driving attracted the attention of the officer.

S. Zarigosa, 49, of Delhi, was arrested by Officer C. V. Adams, of the Santa Ana police department, after a car said to have been driven by Zarigosa had collided with another machine parked at the curbing on McClay street, near First street. No one was in the other machine.

Francisco Salcido, 23, of Placentia, was arrested near Placentia early yesterday by Officers Cagle and Lucy, of Placentia. G. Hernandez, in the machine with Salcido at the time, also was arrested and is being held for possession of liquor.

WOMAN, TWO MEN NABBED AT DANCE

Two men and a woman were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Humiston at the Delhi dance last night and lodged in the county jail on drunk charges.

They were Emma Lopez, 18, 1441 McDonald street, Wilmington; C. A. Flores, 20, Del Rosa, Calif., and Martin Meeker, 17, of Hynes.

All three were to be given hearings in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this afternoon.

SCHOOL AT MESA

COSTA MESA, Dec. 3.—Because a number of the pupils are ill, Dale Hamilton, Evans, superintendent, announced today that the grammar school would be closed this week. It is hoped to reopen the school next Monday, Evans said.

A beret-turban that combines felt and velvet is seen among the new hats. This model is of French felt draped and shirred with the velvet draped over one side.

Household"Genealogy" Subject of Interesting Address
Saturday

The importance of keeping family genealogies was pointed out by Miss Clara M. Rowell of the Los Angeles public library, Saturday afternoon in an interesting address before members of the Santa Ana chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the monthly meeting held at the Ebell clubhouse.

Miss Rowell, who is head of the genealogy department of the Los Angeles library, stated that often times families keep their genealogies carefully enough but that they are destroyed by fire. For this reason it is always wise to keep family records in two places.

She named a number of instances in which family records, supposedly of no interest outside of the family have aided historians in proving facts about which there has been some doubt.

Following Miss Rowell's address, the Christmas box which the chapter sends each year to the immigrant station at Angel Island, San Francisco bay, was filled with a number of packages brought for the occasion by each member.

It was announced that the January meeting of the chapter would take place at the home of Mrs. E. G. Summers of 624 South Ross street. The meeting will occur January 5.

A delightful musical program was presented by Miss Rose Marie Smith, popular young violinist, and Miss Marcia Keeler, pianist. Miss Keeler accompanied Miss Smith and gave several charming solo numbers.

After the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed when the hostesses who included Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch, Miss Mabel Whiting, Mrs. Donald Hinkley, Mrs. O. S. Catland, and Mrs. S. W. Andrews served delicious refreshments. Their decorations carried out the gay greens and reds of the Christmas season.

Delightful Dinner Held
As Compliment to Guest

A delightfully planned dinner was that yesterday with which Mr. and Mrs. White of Yorba Linda, avenue, entertained in honor of their cousin, Miss Maude Edson of Seattle, Wn., who is visiting at their home.

The lovely reds and greens of the holiday time were used in the table appointments. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. White, the hosts, Miss Maude Edson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter White, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White and their two children, Dolin and Jack, of Hollywood, Miss Edson, and John Sylvester of El Modena.

HOMELY REMEDIES THAT DO

There are a number of old-time recipes and forms of cold treatment still in the ring and going strong.

Turpentine and lard frimstance! Heated and rubbed into the skin over the chest, then covered with a layer of cotton wool, this treatment will reduce the most obstinate colds to their proper station in life.

The reason seems to be that one animal fat (lard) has an affinity for another—the fat that ought to be on our chests. Anyway, absorption of both lard and turpentine takes place and speedy relief is given to the sufferer.

Consuming thirst and sore, aching throats are disagreeable features with colds. Try the old-fashioned—

FLAX SEED LEMONADE
4 tablespoons whole flax seed
1 quart boiling water
Juice of 2 lemons
Sugar to taste
Pour the boiling water over the flax seed, add the lemon juice and sugar to make sweet enough. Cover and let stand for three hours. If too thick to strain add a little cold water first, strain and serve with chopped ice to chill well. The flax seed soothes the irritated membrane in sore throats.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Steamed Carrot Pudding
1 cup grated carrot
1 cup grated potato
1 cup fine chopped suet
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup raisins
1 cup currants
1 teaspoon soda (level)
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon allspice
1 1/2 cups flour

This is a rich, moist pudding suited to the Christmas dinner or any other occasion.

Cooked by steaming, the best kind of a mould is a baking powder can. It must be well oiled, filled two-thirds full, covered tightly and steamed three hours. Larger moulds require about five hours while the small ones need but one hour.

Select a firm piece of beef kidney suet, free it from membrane and chop to a fine meal. Combine it with the grated carrot and potato (raw), the sugar, and the flour and curants. Measure the flour after sifting, add the salt, soda and spices and re-sift. Mix smoothly into the moist mixture and fill the moulds two-thirds full. Steam the required time and serve with hard sauce or a hot lemon sauce. There are 14 servings in this recipe.

In steaming this pudding set the moulds in a pot of boiling water that comes more than half way up the sides of the moulds. Keep the water at the same degree of heat all the time the puddings are steaming. Change in cooking temperatures results in soggy puddings.

With the appropriate sauce each portion of this pudding carries 400 calories in its make-up and almost all of them are the energy type.

Some member of the family says, "Let's have a party this week," and is voted down by the somebody else who must do the planning and the heavy work. Parties need not be dreaded if the supper is served as a CAFETERIA SUPPER PARTY. When the food is cooked and the informal service of paper dishes arranged for, the worst is over; the guests step in and do the serving and the party is voted a GRAND SUCCESS because it has been happy and informal.

A stamped self-addressed envelope brings this menu and directions to you free of charge this week. Get it, and plan a party!

TOMORROW we will have Welsh Rarebit for the dish-of-the-day. This is a request recipe.

ANN MEREDITH.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

There will be no Parent-Teacher association activities during the coming week, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Neil Beisel, head of organization.

The southeast section of the Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church will hold its Christmas party at the home of Mrs. E. C. Caskey, 1535 East First street, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Each member is requested to bring a 15 cent gift.

White Shrine will meet Thursday night, 8 o'clock, at the K. P. hall. Following the business meeting the members will hold their annual Christmas party.

The United Brethren Ladies' Aid will hold an all day meeting Thursday with a pot luck dinner at noon. Members are requested to bring articles for the bazaar which will be held Saturday.

Woman's Union of the First Congregational church will hold an all day meeting in the church bungalow Wednesday. Following luncheon at noon, a program will be presented by the southeast section.

ATTRACTIVE NEW HATS FOR WINTER

A Rebox turban of black velvet has a flame and jade silk ornament. (Above) Grey and green velvet stripe a smart turban and the aigrette repeats the colors. (Below) The back of a sweet little brown turban is a garden of velvet flowers in nasturtium colors.

BY HENRI BENDEL
NEA Fashion Expert

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Choosing the right hat for wear with furs is a problem.

But, just as the modiste adapted herself to the bobbed head, so the high fur collar has been accepted and allowances made for it to the extent that a whole series of stunning hats are especially designed for it.

There is no back brim to these hats. In the main they are little tams, berets, cloche models or shaped turbans. But they are charmingly feminine, becoming, individual and, often exceedingly decorative atop a smart coat of fur.

Two Materials
The vast majority of these combine a couple of materials. Plain felt and the new long-haired type called "fox-felt" or "rabbit-felt" make a good combination. Velvet velours take inserts of hat-ter's plush. Pressed velvets are new, used oftenest with fine felt. Panné velvet is excellent and a new hat material is panne taupe.

Most of these little fur coat hats have trimmings of another fabric even if their shapes do not include at least two. Velvet ribbon, graded by color into little feathers, flowers and other decorations, are very good. Quills, feather fancies, and lace are used too. If a pin is added, it is because it is distinctive, not just a pin.

Original Flare
Rebox makes a little tight-fitting turban of rough black velours that has a flame flared back which is original. One side is brimless. The other turns it back high in the center front, graduating to nothing in the back. Across this, from the ear to the top of the head, a flame and jade silk ornament adds its color.

This hat is slightly Russian looking. It would be even more so if astrakhan fur were used in some way for it. But, as it is, it is a chic, swell, and most original looking model, cut perfectly to accommodate itself to the highest of fur collars.

A second way to meet this problem is shown in a little Florence Walton draped turban in green and fur-grey velvet. This is a becoming solution, especially for the lucky woman who possesses a well-shaped head. For this is a becoming model, cut perfectly to accommodate itself to the highest of fur collars.

The two colors, green and fur-grey, alternate in making this hat and thereby give the body of it a slight resemblance to a melon. The front swathing also combines the two colors. And on one side a smart aigrette uses the two tones.

Compromising with the season's earlier demand for some new and startling bark treatment of cha-peux, Rebox makes a sweet little model of wood brown velvet, velvet trimmed. This turban is plain across the front, following a becoming rounded face line, dropping to cover the ears on both sides. Here, at both sides, the velvet flowers begin. A single flower at each side, gathers more with it until the back of this turban is entirely covered with hand-made velvet flowers in the loveliest of nasturtium colors, in browns, tans, beiges and dashing orange.

Exquisite metal blouses are being shown by many New York shops. They are of lame' in white gold, black and gold and various color combinations. A blouse of this type may be used to convert a tailored suit or a plain two-piece sports dress into an attractive afternoon or theatre costume.

All garments members are making for the social service center should be brought to this meeting.

Annual Bazaar, Dinner
Will Be Held On Wednesday

The annual bazaar and dinner of the Church of the Messiah which has always proved one of the most popular events of the Christmas season will be held in the parish hall of that church Wednesday.

The bazaar will open in the afternoon and will feature household articles with Mrs. James K. Allen and Mrs. C. H. Dumphy in charge of the booths where articles for the living room, dining room, kitchen and bed room may be purchased.

The living room booth will contain sofa pillows, bridge table covers, table runners, mats and rugs, book-ends, door stops, bags, baskets and needle books. The dining room booth will include bridge sets, silver holders, buffet sets, dollies, and center pieces. Kitchen articles will include pot holders, towels, shopping lists, clothes pin bags, string bags, and paper bags. In the bed room booth will be quilts, sheets and pillow cases, towels, children's rompers, dainty lingerie, and dresser scarves.

Mrs. James Farrage will be in charge of an apron booth and the cooked food table will be under the direction of Mrs. Oliver Remberg. Members of St. Elizabeth's guild will have charge of the candy booth.

As usual, C. G. Twist will manage the country store where miscellaneous articles, donated by the members of the parish, will be sold. A grab bag will add to the interest of the sales.

The Christmas tree will be decorated by Mrs. S. R. Byler and Mrs. Museum who will sell the gaily wrapped packages on the tree without divulging the secret of their contents.

During the afternoon, tea will be served to the guests under the direction of Mrs. W. V. Brady and Mrs. K. H. Colley. A feature of the tea hour will be the delightful program of Christmas music which has been arranged.

In the evening a turkey dinner will be served, tickets for which may be procured from Mrs. W. H. Haddon and Mrs. G. L. Chapman. Tickets must be purchased in advance in order that the dinner may be planned. Mrs. W. H. Haddon will be in charge of the kitchen and Mrs. I. C. Tuma of the dining room.

Sugarless cereal

means a fight

A little sweetening

does away with an awful

lot of trouble

CHILDREN'S meals should not be something to be dreaded. One of the most important of all dieting problems is to get children to eat enough bone-building, health-promoting foods. Ranking among the highest of foods for children are cereals, and yet, as an eminent food authority recently stated it, "Sugarless cereal means a fight."

He went on to advise mothers to make these necessary foods welcome and even looked forward to by the children through intelligent and judicious sweetening. Sugar in itself is the most perfect fuel to furnish energy for active children, and best of all it makes other necessary foods so easily and gladly eaten.

Children should not dread their meals. The wise mother or nurse, by an intelligent use of sugar, can enable children to enjoy all kinds of healthful cereals, fruits, vegetables and milk. Properly sweetened cereals also encourage the child to eat more milk. Sugar is Nature's ideal flavor. The Sugar Institute.—Adv.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

Two youthful blackmailers tried a new money stunt the other day when they told a certain woman that unless she gave them $50 they would tell her husband of the man not her husband with whom they had seen her riding. They got a rise, but not the kind they expected. The woman took them to police court.

Evidently youth needs to realize that "the new woman" in many cases has male friends other than her husband with said husband's knowledge and complete approval.

GOT A BOY JOB

Louise Lyon, co-ed at the University of Wisconsin, tried to get work as stenographer to help defray school expenses. Discovering that there were no jobs available for girls she shed skirts for trousers and got a job as combination fireman, porter and boot-black in a local barber shop. She carried on for a month before discovered.

Here's refutation of the rather common belief that "a girl can always get work when a man can't."

PAPA CASHES IN

A girl who once worked as a spooler in a woolen mill sang as a star at New York's Metropolitan Opera. House the other night, achieving the goal of thousands upon thousands of American girls who sing. Clara Jacobo, the girl, explains that her mother, the mother, too, of eight other children, always believed in her and saved for her her $9.50 weekly factory wages, eking these out with money filched from her father's grocery till, the total being saved for singing lessons.

While the girl was studying in Italy the mother died. The other night, with fame and fortune at her feet, Clara was photographed with her father, all beams at his daughter's glory. Mr. Jacobo isn't the first father to cash in on a mother's achievement.

HERE AND THERE

All the little Turkish girls attending public school in Stamboul were forced to pass in review before their teachers when school opened this fall, and teachers sent home for longer skirts all the little girls whose skirts came above their knees.

This sounds suspiciously like American influence. Skirt length must seem a queer thing, indeed, to a land whose women folks always got along nicely in trousers. And here at home school-ma'ams break out every once in a while sending little girls home from school for wearing knickers. Life does get confusing.

CHAIRS AND SOCKS

Most men don't care much whether all chairs, both private and public, are sand-papered or not. But if they couldn't buy the cheapest silk stockings under $2 a pair, if they wore their stockings immediately next to the chair, and if splinters and rough spots made "runs" in their socks, there might be something done about the rough chair industry.

British women have protested to officials of bus and car companies on the subject. We ought to be thinking about doing that very thing right here at home.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"A boat on wheels, with a deer in front! My goodness, what a funny stunt," said Clowny to the hunter man. "Now tell us what it's for. Are we supposed to ride around, and go a-bumping o'er the ground? If that's the treat you have in mind, some real sport is in store."

"Now don't be too impatient, lad," the hunter said. "You'll soon be glad that I have fixed your old boat up. But first, I have a hunch that all you Tinymites would like to take an appetizing hike, and then come back to my small home and have a little lunch."

The hunter then began to run, and shouted, "Come on, everyone. I'll show you where some chestnuts are, and you can pick a few." They reached some chestnut trees nearby, and then the bunch heard Copy cry, "Oh, gee, I've tasted one. They're big, and mighty tasty, too."

Each Tiny gathered up his share, and then the hunter shouted, "There! We have enough, so now let's go back home where we can eat." But, when they sat down to a meal, poor Clowny said, "How full I feel. We've eaten chestnuts till we've spoiled a wondrous luncheon treat."

As soon as they had finished lunch, the hunter called the happy bunch and said, "Now I will tell you why I fixed your boat up fine. All jump aboard, just as you are. My little deer will pull you far. I'm sure you'll like this trip. It's to a favorite place of mine."

The Tiniies jumped into the boat, and then the hunter cleared his throat, and said, "You're bound for Toy Land, where old Santa can be found. Just shout giddap and then the deer will take you quickly out of here." The Tiniies did, and soon their boat was traveling o'er the ground.

(The Tiniytes have a bump ride in the next story.)

AL JOLSON TUESDAY OPENS AT WALKERS

There can be little doubt that the leader in earning power is none other than the world's favorite entertainer, lately won over to films by Warner Bros. and Vitaphone!

When it is realized that for years various producers of motion pictures have importuned him to embark on the making of motion pictures—and that he has on more than one occasion refused offers of $20,000 per week to appear in vaudeville, it will be seen what a fabulous salary must have been necessary to induce the singing star to forsake the stage, even temporarily.

One important factor in the winning over of the man was the fact that Vitaphone would enable him to make his famous songs an integral part of the films.

"The idea of being able to leave a permanent record of some of these songs," he says, "combined with the film itself, appealed to me with particular force. It will, in a sense, constitute a lasting memorial—not only of the songs but of myself in the act of singing them. Somehow, it fills me with awe just to think of it."

"The Singing Fool" was directed by Lloyd Bacon. The screen adaptation was made by C. Graham Baker from a story by Leslie S. Barrows. The cast includes two leading ladies, Betty Bronson and Josephine Dunn, as well as Reed Howes, Arthur Housman, David Lee, Edward Martindale and Robert Emmett O'Connor. The highest salaried star is variously known as King of Jazz, Mommy's Favorite Son and the Big Boy of Broadway.

Al Jolson opens tomorrow at the West Coast-Walker theater in "The Singing Fool," Warner Bros. Vitaphone special.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Weird voodoo ceremonies and rites, with hundreds of bizarre worshippers gripped in a veritable orgy of terror; grim revenge in the primitive wilds of an African jungle, and one of the strangest love themes any drama ever saw are the startling elements that make "West of Zanzibar," Lon Chaney's latest Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer thriller, a thing apart.

Chaney, as "Dead Legs Flint," the sinister "white voodoo" ruler of savages in a perilous jungle, is thrilling crowded audiences at the West Coast-Walker theater, where the new mystery drama is now being shown. As the paralyzed ex-magician, subjugating savage devil worshippers with his uncanny tricks, his living skeletons and other seemingly supernatural manifestations, he has one of the most compelling roles of his entire career.

Chaney first appears as a stage magician; then, when the man who robs him of his wife injures him in a fight, he sets forth, paralyzed, to trail his enemy across the world, planning a fearful revenge. The chase takes him into the African jungle, where the fugitive has come as an ivory trader, and in these grim jungles is unfolded one of the strangest, dramas that the screen has ever seen.

Lionel Barrymore is a dominating figure as Crane, the ivory trader and enemy of the paralyzed "white voodoo." Mary Nolan, heroine of "Sorrel and Son," is appealing as the daughter of the grim avenger, and Warner Baxter is convincing as the renegade physician who ultimately finds regeneration in his love for the girl, Kalla Pasha, Roscoe Ward, Jane Daly and others in the cast are provided with adequate roles, and "Nero," a huge native chief in the picture, deserve special mention.

Replicas of fearsome voodoo ceremonies in the wild jungles, amid screaming parrots, chattering monkeys and the more menacing crocodiles, gorillas and other savage denizens of the wilds are dramatic highlights that bring a new thrill to the screen. Tod Browning, who directed Chaney in "The Unholy Three" and others of his outstanding hits, is responsible for the clever direction and sustained terror of the grim drama.

YOST BROADWAY

Speaking of being "on your toes," Thelma Todd exemplifies this saying in "The Crash," the current attraction at the Yost Broadway theater. She is on her toes in both senses of the word.

As the prima donna of a traveling burlesque troupe, she dances before an audience of riotous railroad workmen in a small mountain town. The skill she displays in her performance stands her in good stead when the audience decides to rush the stage and she is on her toes, figuratively speaking, until the burlesque train gets out of the town.

Miss Todd plays the principal supporting role to Milton Sills, star of "The Crash" which is one of the outstanding pictures of the year. It was directed for First National by Edward G. Cline. The supporting cast includes William Demarest, Wade Boteler, Sylvia Ashton, DeWitt Jennings and a host of others.

WEST END THEATER

Melodrama is always welcome with a huge portion of cinema audiences and "Inspiration," starring George Walsh is no exception.

The new picture was shown yesterday to audiences at the West End theater and it went over with a bang.

George Walsh steals the picture, but he is by no means the whole show. Right up in the list of credit where it is due are each of the members of the supporting cast: Gladys Frazin, Earle Larimore, All Young, Buddy Harris, John Costello, Bernice Vert, Marguerite Clayton and Bradley Barker. Together they give a fine, even performance in a photoplay that is difficult.

Interference?

DON'T BELIEVE THERE IS ANY

BY THE RADIO EDITOR

Those questionnaires are coming in thickly now, fans, and we almost have reached that stage where we believe that interference in Santa Ana is not bad enough to warrant efforts toward relief.

Complaints were so frequent prior to the initiation of a campaign to eliminate the alleged noises that we believed little trouble would be encountered in securing co-operation of fans in the great effort.

As we frequently have pointed out, little can be done without the help of the listeners in themselves and unless, within the next few days, we receive some response, it

RADIO QUESTIONNAIRE

Answer the Following Questions and Return To
"Radio Editor, Santa Ana Register"

- Name of Receiver
 - Number and Type of Tubes
 - Name of Dealer from Whom Purchased
 - Address Phone
 - When was Disturbance First Heard
 - With Aerial and Ground Disconnected and Binding Posts Bound Together With Wire, Do You Still Hear Interference?
 - Would You Describe It as Steady, Frying Noise, Irregular Sputtering, Loud Humming, Irregular Cracking
 - At About What Wavelength Does it Come in Loudest
 - How Many Points on Your Dial Does it Cover
 - Have You Checked to See if Turning Off on Any Electrically Operated Appliances in Your Own Home or Your Neighbors' Would Effect Disturbance?
 - What Stations do You Receive Satisfactorily?
- a. b. c. d. e.
- Your name
- Your Address
- Near What Streets

In addition to this information we will appreciate and will be greatly aided if you will keep a log for at least 48 hours showing at what hours the interference is loudest.

It is likely that the interference drive will be called off. So, fans, if you have trouble, some noises marring your radio reception, get busy and submit those questionnaires. We're waiting for them.

Coast Will Hear Eskimos' Voices

The Cluquet Club Eskimos will penetrate the far west tomorrow night, when their voices, put on the air in the studios of the National Broadcasting company, in New York City, will be rebroadcast by KFI. The program will start at 7 o'clock.

ROSA PONSSELLE ON NETWORK TONIGHT

With Rosa Ponselle, dramatic soprano, as the featured soloist and Eugene Goossens as orchestral director, the General Motors family party will be broadcast through a nation-wide network of NBC system stations from 6:30 to 7:30 tonight, Pacific standard time. The broadcast, originating in the NBC New York studios, is the third in this series to come to the Pacific coast. Rosa Ponselle enjoys the distinction of being the first American singer to make her debut in a leading role with the late Caruso.

DX Reception Conditions

THE NEBBES—I'm Sorry Now

DO YOU KNOW WHAT MY COUSIN FANNY NEBB SAID... SHE SAID YOU WERE MARRYING ME FOR MY MONEY AND THAT IF I WAS BROKE, YOU WOULDN'T HAVE NOTHING TO DO WITH ME!

I SUPPOSE I SHOULD MARRY YOU AND THEN GO OUT AND WORK FOR YOU TO SHOW MY AFFECTION! CERTAINLY I WOULDN'T MARRY YOU IF YOU HAD NO MONEY... WHO WOULD?... AND ANOTHER THING... A MAN YOUR AGE SHOULD KNOW HIS OWN MIND AND NOT TAKE ADVICE FROM A COUSIN!

I DON'T TAKE NO ADVICE FROM HER, CONNIE DEAR—SHE JUST UP AND SAYS THAT OUT OF A CLEAR SKY—I TOLD HER IN A ROUND ABOUT WAY TO MIND HER OWN BUSINESS!

IF I WANT TO GO TO THE POOR HOUSE, I DON'T HAVE TO GO BY THE WAY OF THE ALTAR, AND IF YOUR COUSIN IS ADVISING YOU AS TO YOUR LOVE AFFAIRS, TAKE YOUR LITTLE HOOP AND STICK AND GO BACK AND PLAY IN HER YARD

THEY YOU GO CONNIE, I DON'T CARE ABOUT NOTHING BUT YOU—COULD I HELP IT IF SHE UP AND TELLS ME THIS?—AND I GAVE HER A MOUTHFUL OF TALK THAT DIDN'T SOUND LIKE SHE WAS NO KIN TO ME AT ALL

EVENING SALUTATION
"Our way is never quite the way
We'd have it be—and still
Through all the conflicts of the day
We whistle up the hill."

SENATOR BORAH CHANGES

Senator Borah can no longer be recognized as the leader of the peace group in the United States. The hope of this group has been on Senator Borah in the contest against the proposed enlargement of the navy. Senator Borah has been constantly against increased appropriations for military programs. His great following in the country has gone far toward assuring those who are opposed to this program that it would have rough sledding in the Senate with Senator Borah as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

It would appear now, however, that the Senator has changed his view. He says that he will do nothing to prevent the passage of the act, although he proposes to amend it, using it as the occasion for calling the nations together to work out some rules and regulations in regard to neutrals in war time.

Senator Borah has changed steadily, and most radically during the past year, and has surprised many people by these changes. He has never been considered an absolute regular for he has given the recalcitrant aid and comfort through his persuasive speech up until the time of voting, when he has voted and stood for the organization as against the opposition. In recent months he has come closely to the administration, and is more dependable from an administration angle. It would appear now that he can be counted upon practically to carry out the policy of those who are looking for the expansion of our navy program, if not our army.

It is possible that Senator Borah is doing this preparatory to his acceptance of the appointment as Secretary of State. We seriously doubt this, however, as Senator Borah has never evidenced a change of his opinion, or taking on opinions for the sake of personal gain, politically or otherwise. He is the man of all men in Washington who has been so far above suspicion as to create merriment when his name has been linked by enemies with the least vestige of wrong doing. He has "almost" arrived on many occasions.

His attitude now will share many as it will destroy many others. Frankly we have little faith in any agreements which the nations may enter into as to the rights of neutrals. In the midst of war the belligerents will treat their enemy non-combatants as well as neutrals in such manner as they deem will aid them in winning the war, and from the angle of whether their action in respect to neutrals will aid them in other directions in a manner as to compensate them for forcing the neutral in to the position of an enemy. In other words, war destroys the sanctity of treaties and agreements of any sort, and the only manner to prevent them from being considered as mere scraps of paper is to eliminate war itself, which is inherently as far as respect to nations is concerned, anarchy and chaos.

However, the naval program with its $28,000,000 appropriation is extremely moderate and is not caused by any serious alarm. It cannot be said that we are terribly excited and are going headlong into war expenditures.

Perhaps those Chicago politicians named in the sanitary district graft cases were only trying to clean up.

TRADE WITH THE LOCAL MERCHANT

For the next few weeks a vast amount of merchandise will be sold to the people of the United States and other countries. Christmas savings funds are being used to buy remembrances, useful, ornamental, and recreational, for friends and loved ones.

We would urge the people as they are "shopping around" to bear in mind at all times the superior claims of their local merchant. The local merchant serves him during the entire year. He is at his bidding in season and out of season, under good conditions and bad. He is a member and a local supporter of our various organizations, religious institutions, our community chest, and every group which is gathered together for any cultural, educational, or philanthropic purpose. In the solicitation of funds for any enterprise he is the first to be seen, and in proportion to his ability and the many claims upon him, he contributes most largely. He is alive to every need and responds to every request.

However, the local merchant is human like all the rest of us. As he does all these things he on the other hand appreciates local support, the patronage of the people. He is affected in his finances, yes, even sometimes his peace of mind as the news drifts to him of those who drive out of town to trade (particularly if they are acquaintances or friends)—do their shopping in Los Angeles, spending that margin of money with the distant merchant which spells the difference to our local merchant between large success and maybe just getting along.

We should bear our local merchant in mind when we are trading as when we are making claims upon him, that he is a part of our community life. He helps make our institutions. Money spent here remains here weaving itself in and out of our economic and even our social fabric.

Let us in our Christmas trading, and all other trading, bear in mind our own merchant tradesmen who are a part of our city family.

The capture and confession of the latest notorious murder criminal is further evidence that crime doesn't pay.

THE STATE PARK

Prof. A. K. Lobeck of the University of Wisconsin, returning from a trip to Europe, reports that one of the features of American civilization that interests Europeans most is our rapidly-growing habit of establishing numerous state parks.

"The idea of a state park every 100 miles or so captivates their fancy," says Prof. Lobeck. "The fondness abroad for the outdoors, and the love for picnics, is universally apparent, but the masses there must go to established places of entertainment. Everywhere tourists or picnickers encounter the prospect of invading strictly private property."

HUSBAND'S CAREER INTERFERES WITH WIFE'S HAPPINESS

A New Jersey politician's wife is suing him for divorce in Reno. In her charges against her husband she states that his political activities keep her in a position of obscurity and force them to live in unpleasant surroundings which are injurious to her health. There are his votes. Evidently these sacrifices are not "worth the candle" to her.

Many a wife could console with her with sacrifices that have made for her husband's political career. Politics is a partnership business if a man is married. It requires social duties and restraint from wives. For example, there is Mrs. Coolidge who makes it a point never to talk politics. Now, that probably has entailed some sacrifice for she is an intelligent woman and, being a woman, curious, but she has been a successful President's wife. There are others, doubtless, who have lived in their husband's districts who would have preferred something more fashionable with more high-toned neighbors but they have put up with things even if they did have regrets.

But it is old-fashioned, we suspect the lady from Jersey City would tell us. She doesn't want to be suppressed and obscure and sacrificial; she wants to live her own life, amid pleasant and healthful surroundings. Those are her rights but that doesn't help the home any.

LIONEL LICORISH—HERO

The stories that surviving passengers of the steamer Vestris have told about the conduct of officers and crew of that ship have been rather ugly. There have been charges of inefficiency, stupidity and downright cowardice. But there is one sailor whom all unite in praising—a West Indian Negro with the incredible name of Lionel Licorish.

Here's what he did. Catapulting into the water, he swam to an empty, drifting lifeboat. Then he swam off and picked up a couple of floating oars. Then he started saving lives. Between 15 and 20 times he jumped into the water to bring some drowning person to safety. He filled his boat and saw to it that everyone in it was rescued.

Among the names of the heroes of the sea, we suggest that room be made for the name of this obscure, heroic Negro—Lionel Licorish.

What Is 'West'?

Fresno Republican

"The West" has received very remarkable recognition in a national election by the choice of a California citizen, Herbert Hoover, as President, and of Charles Curtis of Kansas as Vice-President. And even if, as some of his opponents have urged, Hoover is a man without a locality, nevertheless he is specifically a westerner, by birth, by association, by occupation and by inclination. He is very far from being "of the effete East."

Probably many of the statesmen of Maine and Massachusetts and New York and Virginia have a hard time to realize, even after a long campaign and a sensational election, that the political center of the successful ticket gravitates somewhere between Pikes Peak and Great Salt Lake.

But it will be an equal astonishment to Californians to be reminded that, to the Atlantic seaboard "the West" is still very close to New York.

In an Associated Press article yesterday, discussing the probable reassignment of committee appointments in the senate following the promotion of Curtis from the position of floor leader, there is a reference to "the East" and "the West." And therein we discovered the fact, in the mind of the Washington writer at least, that Pennsylvania is in the East and Ohio is in the West. These states adjoin on a frontier of several hundred miles, but the one is thought to be as far from the other as the rising and the setting sun.

To us Ohio is "way back east." But in the course of American history it is "way out west."

To the most of the residents of primitive America the way to Herbert Hoover was broken by William Henry Harrison of Ohio and by Lincoln and Grant of Illinois.

An Apostle of the Southwest

New York Times

Mr. Charles F. Lummis, who died on Sunday in Los Angeles, was one of the first "discoverers" of the Southwest. Many a person had traveled through Arizona and New Mexico before he did. A few had written of it glowingly. But Mr. Lummis combined the skill and instinct of a journalist with a deep love of the country. In the virgin field that he chose he became a scholar of distinction.

Although without the archeological background of the late Adolf Bandelier, Mr. Lummis devoted so much time to studying the ways and the folklore of the Pueblos and other Indians in the Southwest that he was able to do much to make their culture better known. His first book of Pueblo folk stories, "The Man Who Married the Moon," was published in 1894. In the previous year he had given the public a picture of the Southwest in "The Land of Poco Tiempo." His many stories and books have done much to make known to the rest of the country the special lure of the deserts and mesas of Arizona and New Mexico.

In 1907 Mr. Lummis founded the Southwest Museum in Los Angeles, which is now one of the leading centers of Indian archeological studies. He did all in his power to awaken the people of Arizona, New Mexico and Southern California to the glories of their past and of their countryside. He died in the knowledge that he had succeeded in his life work, and that the Southwest is becoming a great center of interest for artists, writers, historians and students of all sorts.

Peace Treaty Has Clear Way

Long Beach Press-Telegram

It would be a happy, gracious and fitting thing for the United States Senate to ratify the Kellogg treaty outlawing warfare, by unanimous vote. It is difficult to understand why any member of the Senate would wish to oppose this measure, or upon what ground he would base his opposition.

This great compact is to come before the Senate early, for action. All the world will await the action at Washington. Surely there will be nothing untoward to mar the excellent impression the United States has made upon the Old World by sponsoring this far-reaching agreement to put warfare beyond the pale of international law—something not to be tolerated or engaged in by any signatory, except in self-defense.

Premier Briand of France shares honors with Secretary of State Kellogg in devising and proposing this war-renunciation treaty. It is fitting that these two great republics should come forward, hand in hand, to propose the outlawing of warfare. Surely the United States Senate will do the handsome thing by ratifying without delay, bickering or serious opposition.

EXPERT ASSISTANCE

In Conan Doyle's creative vision He gave the world an able sleuth, Who brought to light the hidden truth Concerning craft and crime. No mystery was too profound, For this lean visaged human hound, By mental synthesis to sound In half a fortnight's time. When gems were lost or men were slain Sometimes for spite, sometimes for gain In good King Edward Seventh's reign, And dread spread far and near The baffled coppers scratched their domes And called in Mr. Sherlock Holmes Who read a few old tattered tomes And made the whole thing clear. But now, when spooks and spirits foil The wit of even Dr. Doyle When, as he burns his midnight oil He sees them near and far When through his country home they stray Half formless shapes of foggy gray He owns he really cannot say Just who and what they are. I wish the Doc would resurrect That keen deducting intellect And have those spirits tagged and checked And either jailed or shot. For I am sure that in three shakes, And with no guess work or mistakes, He would turn them up as fakes, If Dr. Doyle cannot! (Copyright, 1928, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

THE NEW EVANGELISM

Personal work, that is the appealing to men individually instead of by mass, is not altogether a new idea in matters of religion.

But the Reverend Dr. A. Earl Kernahan, pioneer personal visitation evangelist, has gathered together his theories and his experience in the matter in a book called "Visitation Evangelism." The methods of Wesley, Whitefield, Moody, Talmadge, Sunday, Aimee McPherson and the like have been remarkably successful toward bringing people into co-operation with Christianity. These methods, however, are looked on with scorn, because they were supposed to depend upon emotionalism, mob psychology, etc.

The efforts of people to spread the gospel and to gain adherents to the church cannot, however, be called emotional when they are made from one person to another.

The best thing for visitation evangelistic campaigns is their success. During the last four years Dr. Kernahan states that his efforts have resulted in 155,000 decisions.

The drive in Greater New York from March 11 to April 6, 1928, is declared to have produced 10,014 decisions, and a previous campaign by seventeen churches in Staten Island claimed as a result of two weeks' work the gain of some 1,017 adherents to the cause.

The surprising economy and success of the new method induces the Greater New York Federation of Churches to put on a campaign in 1929 and, by unanimous decision, a second drive for the spring of 1929.

The workers go out two by two, and visit from house to house. In the evenings they meet for consultation and dinner. On Sunday they gather for mutual enthusiasm and instruction.

Not much preparation is necessary for this kind of work. It gives every man something to do if he will. Church life means something more than attending meetings.

The Christian Church is often criticized for sending its missionaries into heathen lands, and it is supposed to be a characteristic of the literary Brahmin that he sneers at missionaries and all their works. But the Christian Church is essentially a missionary organization. It has always interpreted the command of its founder to be in a measure its Constitution.

There can be no doubt that the dissemination of Christian truth among the people improves their morality and citizenship. If the Christian Church has any reason for existing at all then whatever makes for its increase is of value.

The personal visitation plan seems to have all the merits of intelligent missionary work and none of the drawbacks of mob enthusiasm.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

AN OLD LAND IS REBORN

The other day I had the exhilarating experience of joining with several thousand Polish citizens of the United States in their celebration of the tenth anniversary of the independence of Poland, one of the results of the World War.

As I watched these Polish citizens stand with bowed heads before the memory and statue of the immortal Kosciuszko, hero of two hemispheres, and later as I watched their eager faces in the great auditorium, a number of hopes for the new republic of this ancient people arose in my mind.

The New Poland is in the midst of a rebirth of nationalism.

It is to be hoped that the New Poland will never fall victim to those perversions of nationalism which have kept the world on a consistent schedule of wars and revolutions through the centuries, but will give the world an example of a nationalism that can rise to the heights of world politics instead of sinking to the depths of ward politics.

The New Poland will be immersed, for years to come, in problems that interlock with the problems of other European nations—tariffs, customs, access to the sea, military establishments, and the like—upon the constructive handling of which the peace of Europe will, in large measure, depend. It is to be hoped that the New

Poland will approach these problems in the spirit of the business man, the farmer, the laboring man, the scientist, the artist, in the spirit of the men who are doing the work and bearing the burdens of the world, instead of in the spirit of the old diplomats whose lips have so often spoken honeyed words and sung of high ideals while their fingers toyed with daggers.

The New Poland stands, in a sense, on the frontier between Western civilization and Eastern civilization, with the possibility of development in either direction.

It is to be hoped that the New Poland will not become the fanatic partisan of either, but the union of the best of both West and East. The New Poland cannot afford, in its difficult days of reconstruction, to become a nation of dreamers alone. Certainly the world would be loser if independence did no more than produce a race of Polish Babbitts. A union of Eastern dreams and Western deeds is a worthy goal for this young republic.

The New Poland is in the morning hours of a great adventure in self-government.

It is to be hoped that the New Poland will learn what no people on earth has yet learned fully—that the highest meaning of self-government is government of self. Copyright 1928 McClure News-pr. Syn

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE HANDICAPPED CHILD

A child with defective vision or one of poor hearing ought, if at all possible, be sent to classes with the seeing children or hearing children. Children learn a great deal by associating with each other. The group does work that the teacher cannot do because the teacher is adult and the children, children. Just what it is that children give each other is hard to put in words, but it is essential to the healthy growth of all children, handicapped and free alike.

A child whose vision is very poor or even missing altogether should be taught to read by one of the systems for teaching reading to sightless folk. Even when the child can see to read a little, it is best to teach him to read with his fingers rather than his eyes.

He ought to have personal instruction by an expert teacher of sightless children who teaches him the class work day by day, but he should recite and work daily with seeing children. He is to live in the world of seeing people and the sooner he learns the way of the seeing world the better for him.

The child who has poor hearing needs the same kind of help. His special teacher is to teach him to read lips and so be able to understand what people are saying. The teacher of the hard-of-hearing child will teach him the classroom lessons as well and, like the non-sighted child, will recite and work with a class whose hearing is perfect.

When a child, for any reason, is excluded from the companionship of his mates he suffers. There is a cloud on his spirit. He senses vaguely that he is different and that a great section of life, a very delightful section he believes it to be, is denied him. He grows moody; his appetite fails; his conduct changes; he becomes a problem child. Let him go with the free child and he brightens immediately.

The handicapped child must be placed with children of his own mental power. Should he be subnormal mentally he is not to be placed with bright children, and if he is a very bright child mentally, he is never, under any circumstances, to be placed with those who are mentally deficient.

In placing him consider the teacher and as far as the conditions permit put him with a sympathetic and efficient one. He
